MESSAGE BY MORTON

The Governor of New York Presents to the Legislature His Views on Various Matters.

The Finances of the State Are in Excellent Condition and There is No Indebtedness.

Recommendation That the Legislature Devise Ways and Means for Enlarging the State Charitable Institutions.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Governor Morton's inaugural address was laid before the legislature today. It opens with a reference to the legislation made necessary by the revised constitution, which, the message observes, demands the closest care, that no hasty, incomplete or ill-advised measures be enacted. The finances of the state are in excellent condition. There is no state indebtedness whatever, while the permanent funds, including the United States deposit fund, aggregate $2,010,394.30 of principal.

The amount realized from the transfer tax (otherwise known as the inheritance tax) during the last fiscal year was $1,688,054.24 and from the corporation and organization tax $1,756,600.87, making a total of $3,444,655.11. The income from both sources is below expectation. It is estimated that the transfer tax will not for years to come yield more than $2,000,000 annually.

The governor recommends the legislature to devise ways and means, if practicable, for the enlargement of some of the state charitable institutions. Expenditures have been made before appropriations have been enacted to meet them, which is a condition of affairs that requires remedy. The government points out the necessity for a treasury surplus. He also calls attention to the need for the most rigid economy in the management of the different departments of the state government. From year to year, and especially during the past twelve or thirteen years, these expenses have grown until the burden is becoming grievous and unbearable. Indirect forms of levying taxes have been resorted to with the idea of relieving or shifting the burden of taxation.

One great extravagance, he says, arises from the multiplicity of "commissions." From an expenditure covered by these commissions of less than $4000 in 1880 we have seen a growth from year to year until the cost of these commissions alone amounted last year to nearly $1,350,000. Some of these commissions are unnecessary and should be abolished. Some of them should be consolidated or made bureaus of relative departments of the state government. The governor notes that, although about $21,500,000 has been expended upon the new capital, that structure is not yet completed. The people, he adds, are thoroughly tired of this seemingly endless drain upon the treasury.

Governor Morton reviews the new constitution and speaks of the legislation to give each provision effect. As to the greater New York, it is suggested that a commission be at once created, to be composed of the most capable citizens of the various localities interested and to be charged with the power and duty of framing a charter to be reported to the present legislature. In the meantime, the governor says, the duty is incumbent on the legislature, under the express will of the people, to make the requisite power of removal and appointment without waiting for the full effects of the reform plan.

The experience of several years has made it clear that the system of providing a separate ballot for each group of nominations is cumbersome and unsatisfactory. The "blanket" ballot, so called, which has been successfully used in many states should, in the opinion of Governor Morton, be adopted in this state without further delay. It is, moreover, the opinion of the governor, that the use of the "blanket" ballot, which is the instrumentality of the purpose of the law has been to a large extent defeated. In the interest of pure elections, attention is called to the fact that while sworn statements of experts are required of candidates for office there is no provision for ascertaining the expenses of political committees.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Baking Powder

The importance of legislation authorizing the improvement of the canals of the state, so that they may regain the possession they formerly held as carriers, is urged upon the legislature. It is shown by statistics that what has been lost by the canals has not all been gained by the railroads of the state, a considerable proportion of the earnings from grain carriage having been secured by the railroads of other states and of Canada.

The subject of good roads is also commended to the attention of the legislature. It is suggested that convict labor may find employment in this direction, particularly as a constitutional amendment, which takes effect two years hence, forbids the state from employing convicts at the state and county prisons, jails and reformatories in any industrial art or useful occupation in competition with the work or products of the people. Some further legislation is urged looking toward perfection of the existing law, particularly in the matter of paying in of capital stock. It is also urged that the banking law be so amended that the officers having the physical control of the funds of a bank should not be allowed to loan money to themselves, but that their applications for loans should be submitted to the board of directors. It is recommended that banks of discount and savings banks be forbidden to conduct business in the same offices.

The governor asserts that the expenditures for the maintenance of state buildings for the insane have been extravagant and makes certain recommendations in the interest of economy. The preservation of forests, game, animals and birds are subjects recommended to the consideration of the legislature. It is finally suggested that attention be given to the question of providing the state military and naval forces with improved arms.

WAS IT A PUT-UP JOB.

The Supposed Lynching of ex-Treasurer Scott is Doubled.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 2.—A Sioux City, Iowa, special to the Journal says: Officers from O'Neill, Neb., are here looking for Bartlett Scott, the embezzling county treasurer, supposed to have been captured by a mob and lynched on Monday. They say that they have no faith in the lynching story.

Scott was convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. He was out under heavy bonds, and it is their theory that his abductors were his friends. They think the job was put up to get him out of the county, and that the same thing will be done with the other localities interested and to be charged with the power and duty of framing a charter to be reported to the present legislature.

At last reports no trace of him had been received without the aid of the around O'Neill has been scoured for the past two days.

Mellon is having two boats built in San Francisco which he will take by rail to Green River, Wyo., in April, and assisted by five river men will descend the Colorado river to Yuma and the Gulf. Capt. Mellon has been running steamers on the river thirty-two years, and now, at the age of seventy, he is going to make this trip of 3000 miles in seventeen days.

Col. Robert Stanton and Maj. Powell and their parties are the only ones who have made the dangerous trip through the rapids.

Lignite Coal Combine. DENVER, Jan. 2.—The Denver Steam Coal company which was organized some time ago has raised the price of lignite coal from $1.75 to $2 a ton, the combine embraces all the big coal dealers in the city. They control the output of every mine of importance in the state, so that practically every consumer of lignite coal for steam purposes must buy of the combine or go without coal.

DECLINES A DISCUSSION. Bishop Messmer Will Not Reply to Grand Chancellor Hilscher.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Jan. 2.—Bishop Messmer, of Green Bay, when asked today for a statement in reply to demand by J. F. Hilscher, grand chancellor of Knights of Pythias of Minnesota, to define the alleged difference as to purpose and principles between the lower and higher degrees, Knights of Pythias, and that they are distinctly anti-Christian, declined to enter into the subject and opened a controversy.

A LITTLE MISS

Who Was Successfully Treated at the Copeland Medical Institute—Was So Sick at Times that She Could Not Attend School.

On the 2nd of last April, Gertrude Seery, 12 years old, whose home is at No. 1722 West Superior street, began treatment at the Copeland Medical Institute for a complication of troubles. The treatment was continued with greater or less regularity for three months. The results therefrom can best be told in the words of Mrs. Seery, the mother of the patient:

"When Gertrude was 6 years old, she had an attack of typhoid fever. After that, she lacked strength, was always weak and debilitated. She had no color in her cheeks, and she was very nervous. She would waste away and die. She frequently was sent home from school by her teachers because of illness, and although I tried many physicians and spent much money, she seemed to derive no benefit.

In addition to her weak and wasted condition, she had a cough and trouble in the throat and some sort of a stomach trouble. In April she began the treatment at the Copeland Medical Institute, and I noticed an improvement very soon. That continued slowly but surely, and when she ceased taking treatment in June, you would not have known the child. She was strong, vigorous and for the first time since her early illness had color in her cheeks. I am exceedingly well pleased with the results of the treatment given by the physicians of the Copeland Institute. They did her more good than all the other treatment that she ever had."

"If Grand Chancellor Hilscher desires to know more of the matter," Bishop Messmer said, "I would suggest that he apply for full information to the committee of archbishops that had charge of the matter. If I had to make a statement for publication I would be more definite. WEST DULUTH ITEMS

Assiduously Partied Last Evening Was One of the Most Delightful Parties Ever Given Here.

Forty Couples Present, Fine Music Given and Every Feature Added to the Evening's Pleasure.

Rev. Mr. Dahle, of the Norwegian Lutheran Church, Preached His Farewell Sermon Yesterday Morning.

The dancing party at Great Eastern hall last evening was the most successful ever given by the Assembly club. About forty couples were present and a more congenial company of people probably never spent a happier evening upon a dancing floor.

The committee of arrangements had provided every comfort for the convenience of the guests and nothing was lacking for complete enjoyment. Although the majority of those present were West Duluth people, a number of Duluth faces were also noticeable. The following were present: Messrs. and Mesdames Charest, Hoyt, Mandelst, Williamson, Reeves, Follett, Burnside, Kastner and Thompson; Misses Bagley, Agnes and Anna Carroll, Sawyer, Neuman, Lautenschlager, Grant, Romenoy, Bargo, Stoughton, Craig and Josephine Brower, of St. Cloud; Messrs. Cowen, Bagley, Dunn, Fetter, Neuman, Murphy, John and Edward Home, Barnes, Burrows, Sharp, Wilson, Bargo, Manson, Mitchell, Clay Prescott, Gardner.

Wickstrom's orchestra furnished the music. Light refreshments were furnished at midnight. To L. S. Neuman, L. A. Barnes and John Home, committee on arrangements, is due the credit for a most pleasant social function.

His Farewell Sermon.
Rev. Mr. Dahle, who resigned his pastorate of the Norwegian Lutheran church of West Duluth three months ago, yesterday preached a farewell sermon to his congregation. Mr. Dahle has filled the pulpit here for several years with flattering success, and his report of church work, as given by him yesterday, shows a wonderful growth in that direction during his ministry.

It is understood that hereafter a combination will be made with the church here and a West End church of like denomination, whereby one pastor will supply both pulpits. Mr. Dahle has made arrangements to move to Atkinson, where he will become pastor of a church at that place.

Big Contest Probable.
LONDON, Jan. 2.—The Sporting Life says that it is quite probable that there will be a big contest next summer between Oxford, Cambridge, Yale and Harvard. The Sporting Life says: "The Yankee (New York Athletic club) challenge to the London Athletic club is sportsmanlike in the extreme, showing plainly that real business and business only is meant."

DULUTH'S ACQUISITIONS.

Assessed Valuation and Bonded Indebtedness of New Duluth and Fond du Lac.

No formal turning over of the records of the villages of New Duluth and Fond du Lac has yet taken place between the late officials of those municipalities and the proper officials of the city of Duluth.
Recently Aldermen Olafson and Mitchell visited both villages and obtained a few facts as to their financial condition, which facts were handed in to Mayor Lewis.

New Duluth has an assessed valuation of $13,000; bonded indebtedness, $17, 000; outstanding orders, $6000. Twenty-gine and 1500 feet of hose. A day and night policeman is also maintained.

month are maintained. A policeman at

Many Deeds Filled.

Monday was a big day in the office of the register of deeds, as the impression that it was necessary to file deeds on that day to escape the payment of the taxes for 1894 seemed to be general. The taxes do not fall due until next Monday.
During the day eighty-seven instruments were filed, thirty-six of which were realty transfers. The valuation of the latter amounted to $107,241.

Teachers' Examination.

AN OVERTURNED LAMP.

Ada Pierson, an Eight-Year-Old Child,
Horribly Burned to Death Early Last Evening.

In Awakening She Tipped Over a Kerosene
Lamp and Her Clothes Caught Fire.

Death Followed Within an Hour—Her Brother
Was Burned While Trying to Save Her.

Ada Pierson, aged 8 years and 6 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.
Pierson, of 2811 Railroad street, met a horrible death last evening. Her parents were over at one of the neighbors spending the evening. The girl and her brother, 10 or 11 years of age, were at home, and also several other children who were asleep. Ada was sitting at the table and fell asleep. When she awoke she started suddenly and tipped over a kerosene lamp which was on the table near her. The oil covered her clothing and instantly her clothes were all in flames.

Her brother made heroic efforts to extinguish the flames and burned his hands badly in the attempt. He then dashed out to get his father. The latter was coming to the house at the time when the boy met him. He arrived too late, however, to be of any assistance. A physician was procured at once, but the poor girl lived only for about an hour, dying at 10 o'clock in intense agony.

MUST MAKE REPORTS.

Some County Officers Not Aware That They Were Liable For a Misdemeanor.

Some of the county officers were surprised this morning on receiving a communication from the county auditor to learn that they had inadvertently laid themselves open to punishment for misdemeanor. The statutes provide that each officer shall, on Jan. 15 of each year, make a report to the county commissioners of all money handled during the year. The notice was to the effect that the county auditor had been requested by the state examiner to order them to file statements for 1893 as well as for 1894. The statements for 1893 were not filed.

It was simply an oversight on the part of the officers who are remiss, but nevertheless another section of the statute provides that a violation shall constitute a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1000, imprisonment for not less than sixty days or more than six months, or both.
Of course no one will be subjected to any of these punishments as no one happened to know anything about it before, but the reports will probably be made this time.

finally in, however, it was dismissed upon the motion of Mr. Baldwin to the effect that the evidence failed to show a public offense.

The Associated Merchants have opened a branch tea store at No. 20 West Superior street, Duluth, having rented the same for one year, and during the holidays will put the expense of one year's advertising in one month, by distributing to each and every purchaser a souvenir consisting in part of genuine diamond jewelry, set in solid gold; also solid gold and silver watches and many other articles of less value too numerous to mention. This choice blend of tea will be sold at the same price, same quality and same quantity, but without the souvenirs after thirty days. SHERIDAN'S ANSWER.

He Replies in the Ainslie Land and Mining Company's Suit.

In the case of the Ainslie Land and Mining company vs. Fred Barrett, the Ohio Mining company, John B. Weimer, James Sheridan et al, the defendant, James Sheridan, has filed a separate answer in the United States circuit court. The answer is voluminous, taking sixteen pages of typewritten manuscript.

The suit was brought by the plaintiff to secure a forfeiture and annulment of a lease held by the Ohio Mining company to lands in $377, including the Ohio mine, near Virginia. The lease to the Ohio Mining company provides for a royalty of 25 cents a ton, when producing ore, and $600 a month rental when not making a minimum of 25,000 tons.

The Ohio Mining company made a sub-lease to Sheridan and Weimer with a royalty of 65 cents a ton when operated; a royalty was also to be paid on 1,500,000 tons a year,

NELSON IS OUT.

Governor Nelson Announced Today That He Is a Candidate for the United States Senatorship.

He Made the Statement to Governor Yale, of Winona, and Later to Senator Washburn.

Mr. Comstock Is Still in the Field and Promises to Stay to the Finish.

John L. Gibbs This Afternoon Withdrew From the Race for the Speakership of the House.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—Governor Nelson came out today as an avowed candidate for the United States senate. A rumor started in the Windsor during the morning that the governor would be a candidate, and a number of the mutual friends, and Senator Washburn himself, went to the capitol to verify or obtain a denial of it.

Senator Yale, of Winona, was the first, and he asked the governor point blank if he was to be a candidate?

The governor very promptly replied that he was now an avowed candidate for the office.

SENATOR NELSON.

Senator Yale said that this was a surprise to him; that he had supposed there was nothing at all in the talk about his becoming a candidate.

The governor replied that two days ago there was not, but that he came to a decision last night and that he should now make the race.

Senator Washburn saw him soon after, and in reply to a similar question from him the governor made the same reply. He did the same to other friends who called later.

SENATOR WASHBURN.

The announcement came as a great surprise to the politicians about the hotels this morning, though many of them had previously expressed the opinion that it would not be strange if Nelson came out, especially as the governor and Mr. Comstock come from the same section of the state and have always been the fastest of friends. But it sets aside all doubts in every direction, and the fight will now be one to a finish between the Nelson and Washburn forces.

Congressman McCleary will probably return to Washington without announcing himself as a candidate, and all the other side lights will be extinguished. Just what Mr. Comstock and his friends will do remains to be determined. Mr. Comstock will probably remain in the race. There will probably be less cordiality between the Washburn and anti-Washburn forces from now on.

"I am a candidate for United States senator," said Governor Nelson at noon today in confirmation of the report which had spread about the hotel corridors earlier in the day, "and I have but one other statement to make," continued the governor, "I never at any time agreed to support Mr. Washburn." When urged to state when he had decided to enter the race, he laughingly replied: "Last evening."

GIBBS HAS WITHDRAWN.

His Declaration Apparently Makes Van Sant a Sure Winner.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—John L. Gibbs has withdrawn from the contest for the speakership of the house of representatives.

Late this afternoon, after a consultation with his friends and with the friends of Candidate Shell, he decided to release his friends from their promised allegiance and withdraw from the field.

In the course of a conversation Mr. Gibbs said he was satisfied that if a poll of Freeborn county were taken it would be found largely in favor of Governor Nelson for senator.

It was so late in the day that the announcement of the withdrawal of Gibbs did not receive any publicity until the evening. They were conveyed to the several headquarters, where it created a profound sensation. It was generally conceded that the decision left Van Sant master of the situation.

TWENTY RESIDENCES ROBBED.

Thieves in Minneapolis Secured Over $12,000 Worth of Plunder.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 3.—As the Minneapolis police turn up the stuff that has been stolen from residences in that city, by the Terry gang, the extent of the operations of the thieves becomes appalling. They have entered not less than twenty residences in Minneapolis and the owners of the stolen property enlisted the St. Paul police in the effort to locate the stolen stuff some time ago. And it was this fact that finally led to the capture of the gang last Friday.

When the attention of the local authorities was first called to the Minneapolis robberies it was by a lady, whose name is not yet made public and who had lost two sealskin garments and all the other costly wearing apparel in the house, as well as all the silver, worth $1500. A portion of the stolen property was found in a Sixth street pawn shop by the police of St. Paul, and a day or two later Terry put in an appearance in the city and was arrested on the bill by two detectives while the crooks were getting the lay of the land preparatory to doing business.

Chief Clark knew the men were crooks and drove them out of town, sending a man with them to Minneapolis. They were located at the place where the gang was finally captured, when the descent was made.

Yesterday two Minneapolis detectives came to St. Paul and got the stolen property from the pawnshop. It was contained in a satchel and there was about $400 worth of it. It had been pawned for $50. Another piece of property, a bicycle, which had been stolen by the same crowd, in Minneapolis, was yesterday recovered from a man at Lake Como.

The theft of the bicycle proved an interesting affair to the police. They saw the vehicle saw the crook getting away with it and jumped into a buggy and gave chase. The thief fired several shots at his pursuers, but finally got away. The matter was not made public until the return of the property yesterday.

It now transpires that the gang stole no less than $12,000 worth of property in Minneapolis, and the members were getting ready to commence operations in St. Paul when Clark's men got them.

AT BLUEFIELDS

The President Sent to the Senate Today the Correspondence Regarding the Troubles at Bluefields.

This Country Has Steadily Recognized the Paramount Sovereignty of Nicaragua Over the Entire Reservation.

Indians' Right of Self Government Under the Treaty Was to Be Exercised by Themselves.

The Mosquito Indians in November Agreed to Submit Wholly to the Laws of Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The president today sent to the senate about 300 pages of correspondence relative to Bluefields, summarized in the following letter:

To the president: The secretary of state to whom was referred a resolution adopted by the senate on Dec. 4, requesting the president, "if not incompatible with public interest to send to the senate any reports of correspondence relating to affairs at Bluefields in the Mosquito territory and also to inform the state senate whether any American citizens have been arrested or the rights of any American citizens at Bluefields have been interfered with during the past two years by the government of Nicaragua," has the honor to submit the correspondence called for, that the same may be transmitted to the senate, should the president deem it compatible with the public interest to do so.

Although the resolution covers affairs at Bluefields during the past two years, the events to which it relates occurred within the last twelve months.

In December, 1893, war broke out between Nicaragua and Honduras. In January a detachment of Honduran troops seized Capt. Gracias a Dios in Nicaragua, about sixty miles above the Mosquito strip. The Kearsarge was ordered to Bluefields to protect the interests of American citizens, but was wrecked on the way on Rondonador reef. Early in February the government of Nicaragua sent a military force to the strip to repel the threatened invasion. On Feb. 11 the Nicaraguans occupied the bluff, and on Feb. 12 they took possession of Bluefields and proclaimed martial law in the reservation. Against this action the United States protested.

War vessels of Great Britain and later of the United States were sent to Bluefields to protect the respective interests in that locality. The Nicaraguan commission to the reservation attempted, with the concurrence of the British, a consular representative, to organize a provisional government for the strip, in which Nicaraguans and foreigners were to take part, but the British refused to do so. This government withheld its sanction of the scheme as inimical to the sovereignty of Nicaragua, and American interests at Bluefields refrained from participating in the proposed administration.

British marines were temporarily landed to protect life and property in view of threatened disturbances, but they were withdrawn when the necessity for their presence no longer existed, and thereafter an American vessel sufficed for all needs of foreign protection. In July last a movement against the Nicaraguan authority was temporarily successful, the so-called Indian government was for a time restored. This government was captured with loss of life on the part of Nicaragua, and the Nicaraguan garrison of Bluefields expelled. A few citizens of the United States who were believed to have taken part in this insurrection left the country.

Two Americans, Lampton and Whitlock, accepted municipal offices under the short lived regime and they and ten or twelve others, mostly English and Jamaicans, were arbitrarily arrested and detained. The urgent remonstrance of this government and its demand that the two Americans be allowed a hearing and in any event an opportunity to arrange their affairs before expulsion, resulted in permission being given them to return to Bluefields under pledge of good behavior.

With these exceptions, and perhaps that of one Auburn, whose return was for a short time refused but afterwards allowed, the undersigned is not advised that American citizens in Bluefields have been arrested. Sundry complaints growing out of interruptions of trade and use of American vessels by the Nicaraguan authorities have had proper attention and will doubtless yield to the usual methods of treatment.

During the period covered by the events in question, the Nicaraguan government questioned the executive of Mr. Braida, the United States consul at San Juan del Norte, on the ground of his alleged unfriendly acts, but was subsequently restored. An unfortunate incident threatened for a time to strain the good relations between this government and that of Nicaragua. One Wilson, an American citizen, having been murdered at Rama by Arguello, the temporary authorities of the town, a demand for the trial and punishment of the criminal and his accomplice was made.

Arguello was arrested, but escaped with the evident connivance of the local authorities, and his rearrest and detention at Bluefields were followed by a second escape, under circumstances indicating gross negligence, to say the least, on the part of those responsible for his safe custody. He is said to have fled the country, thereby making the efforts of the proper authorities to do justice in the case. The Nicaraguan government, however, testified its abhorrence of the atrocious crime by discharging Torres, a member of the government of Rama, and by sending a commissioner to the reservation in place of Lacayo, who was in command at Bluefields at the time of the second escape.

The facts above stated and incidental references to the treatment of the question of the inter-oceanic canal by the government of Nicaragua appear in the correspondence.

It will be observed that from the beginning of the conflicts, which at times were serious, this government has steadily recognized the paramount sovereignty of Nicaragua over the entire reservation, yielding to no pretensions inconsistent with that sovereignty. At no time during the last forty or fifty years has the so-called native Indian government in the strip been real. On the contrary it has been an alien municipal government administered according to alien methods. Although Americans and American interests have some time dominated in the strip, this government, while intervening in proper cases for their protection, has constantly disavowed any right of its own or of its citizens to govern the reservation or participate in the political affairs.

Whatever right of self government the Indians enjoyed under the treaty concluded between Great Britain and Nicaragua was to be exercised by themselves and not by aliens in their name. That treaty contemplated the eventual surrender by the Indians of their strip, and their incorporation into the republic of Nicaragua on the same footing as other citizens of the republic.

A copy of a convention, concluded on Nov. 20 last, is herewith communicated, by which it is declared that the Mosquito Indians, while retaining "special privileges" in accordance with their "customs" and "racial disposition," have "agreed wholly to submit to the laws and authorities of Nicaragua for the purpose of forming part of the political and administrative organization."

Great Britain, it is proper to say, has given this government the most positive assurance that she asserts no right of sovereignty or protection over the territory, but on the contrary respects the full and paramount sovereignty of the government of Nicaragua. Respectfully submitted,

W. Q. GRESHAM.

FOR THE RICH STAKES.

Many Nominations Made for the Coney Island Club's Events.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Entries to the rich stakes of the Coney Island and Brooklyn Jockey clubs have closed. The Coney Island club's events are the Futurity for 1897, great trial and double event for 1895. The number of nominations received to these stakes is 314 to the Futurity, forty-nine to the great trial and forty-two to the double event. This is an excellent showing at this time as many owners wait until the last hour before their selections.

Many prominent stables, while making entries to the Futurity, have not entered any youngsters for the great trial or the double event. Among the owners who have overlooked these valuable prizes are J. E. Pepper, M. F. Dwyer, P. J. Dwyer, Richard Croker, August Belmont, J. W. Rogers, Byron McClelland, Charles Walbaum, Charles Fleischman, J. B. Haggin and the Brookdale stables. Marcus Daly head the list in nominations to the Futurity, being credited with fifty-two entries. Maj. Hancock and L. O. Appleby are also heavy nominators, while Gideon & Daly, R. W. Walden, W. C. Hardy, S. Sanford & Sons, Perry Belmont, S. B. Bivins, and D. H. Morris, J. E. McDonald, Madison stables and R. A. Baker, are among the list who have entered in all of the stakes.

GOOD RIDDANCE

Two Star Desperadoes Who Have Infested Oklahoma for a Long Time Bite the Dust.

Bob Moore and George West, Supposed to Be Implicated in a Train Robbery, Killed.

They Were Shot Through Their Hearts After a Desperate Fight with a Sheriff's Posse.

The Outlaws Were a Veritable Walking Arsenal, and Oklahoma Officials Delighted Over Their Death.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 3.—Two star desperadoes who have infested Oklahoma territory for a long time have been run to the ground and made to bite the dust. Before they died they fought their pursuers and seriously wounded one of them. The outlaws are Bob Moore and George West, both of whom are suspected of being implicated in the Canadian, Texas, express robbery and the killing of Sheriff McGee.

News of the affair was received at United States Marshal Nix's office yesterday. Deputy Marshal Bill Williams and a strong detachment of deputies had been after the outlaws for several weeks. They had traced them from place to place, but had not got within fighting distance until Tuesday. Although the sides were unequal, half a dozen or more deputies to two outlaws, the latter were armed to the teeth and their natural desperateness, strengthened by the box in which the deputies had put them, made them no easy marks.

They were rounded up in a desolate valley in the southwestern part of Washington county about noon, and when commanded to surrender took a stand and began using their Winchester. Their aim was good, for in the first volley one of the posse fell, seriously wounded in the side. His name is not given. The next instant, however, both lay stretched on the ground dead, with bullets in their hearts.

The outlaws were a veritable walking arsenal and had not been killed so soon, would doubtless have laid waste to some deputies to rest. They are both old offenders with enviable reputations among their craft, and their riddance is a joyous news to the territory officials generally as they were the constant dread of Oklahomans.

MAINE'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Governor Cleaves' Message Opposes the Free Ship Bill.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 3.—In the course of his message, Governor Cleaves says: "It is confidently asserted by many of the leading ship builders and ship owners, that if our government shall retain for this industry the protection accorded by our navigation laws, Maine in the near future will be producing as much iron and steel tonnage as she has heretofore of wood."

"We may well view with alarm the proposed free admission to American registry of ships built in foreign countries, for it must be detrimental to our state, and to the shipping and business interests of the citizens. An expression from the legislature to the congress of the United States upon a subject so vital to the state will be appropriate."

On the subject of the liquor traffic the governor notes that in only thirty-three of the 437 towns of the state are agencies maintained under the law which authorizes the maintenance of agencies to furnish municipal officers of towns in this state and duly authorized agents of other states with pure, unadulterated intoxicating liquors, to be kept and sold for medicinal and mechanical and manufacturing purposes.

Official returns show that during the past three years intoxicating liquors were sold through the state commissioner to the established city and town agencies amounting to $338,803. Some changes in the law regulating the sale of liquor at the agencies are suggested by the governor, looking toward a more complete control of the traffic than is at present exercised by the state.

WAS DEGRADED

Capt. Dreyfus, the French Officer Recently Convicted of Treason, Was Publicly Degraded This Morning.

Before Five Thousand Soldiers His Epaullets Were Torn Off and His Sword Was Broken.

Dreyfus Shouted Out That He Was Innocent and the Large Crowd Raised Fierce Cries.

He Will Be Deported to French Guiana and Imprisoned for Life in a Fortress.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Capt. Dreyfus, of the Fourth regiment of artillery, recently attached to the general staff of the army, who was tried by court martial, convicted of treason in disclosing important war office documents to foreigners and sentenced to deportation and imprisonment for life in a fortress, was publicly degraded this morning in front of the military school of this city.

Dreyfus slept well and was awakened at 5 o'clock in the morning when he was informed that this was the day fixed for his degradation in public. He displayed no emotion until he was dressed in the full uniform of his regiment and prepared to leave the Cherche-Midi prison, in which he has been confined since his arrest for the military school. He then turned deathly pale and his hand shook as he signed the prison register.

When this formality was gone through two gendarmes with revolvers in their hands escorted him to a closed military wagon, drawn by four horses and escorted by a troop of mounted republican guards. In this wagon, surrounded by the guards with drawn swords, Dreyfus was driven to the military school, where the prison authorities were waiting. A large crowd of people was gathered about the military school, and the arrival of the school of two of the military school was a scene of great interest. Behind the school is the Place de Fontenoy, upon which is a handsome monument erected in memory of the soldiers and sailors who fell in the war of 1871.

The arrival at the school of the two of the military school was a scene of great interest. Behind the school is the Place de Fontenoy, upon which is a handsome monument erected in memory of the soldiers and sailors who fell in the war of 1871.

When Dreyfus arrived at the military school he was placed in an improvised cell, and detachments from every branch of the garrison of Paris began assembling in the Place de Fontenoy and by 9 a. m. fully 5000 troops were ranged about the quadrangle.

At 9 o'clock Dreyfus was conducted to the square and led before Gen. d'Arres, who is in command of the troops, and the sentence of the court martial was read to the prisoner. The general then briefly addressed Dreyfus saying: "You are adjudged unworthy to bear arms. In the name of the French people, I degrade you."

Gen. d'Arres then gave a sharp word of command and a non-commissioned officer of the Republican guard approached Dreyfus, the infantry presented arms, the cavalry presented swords, and there was a long, solemn roll from the massed drum corps.

Dreyfus started back as the non-commissioned officer touched him and shouted: "I am innocent. I swear it. Vive la France."

The non-commissioned officer then tore off Dreyfus' epaullets and all the other distinctive marks of his rank as a captain of artillery, ending up with breaking the prisoner's sword in two and throwing the two halves at his feet. Dreyfus was then marched, bareheaded, around the entire square in front of the troops. He was greatly excited and shouted more than once: "I am innocent. I swear it. Vive la France."

But every time the prisoner spoke, in accordance with orders previously issued, his voice was drowned by the roll of drums. As Dreyfus passed in front of the place occupied by the representatives of the press he shouted: "Tell the whole of France I am innocent." This caused some of the officers of the army reserve who were standing by, to retort: "Down with Judas. Silence, traitor!" It was evident that Dreyfus felt these words keenly, for he turned sharply around and faced the officers in a threatening manner. But before he could do so anything further he was seized by the soldiers who were escorting him and forced to continue his humiliating march around the square.

The crowd outside the school, on hearing the prisoner's voice when he protested innocence, raised fierce cries of "death to the traitor, death to the traitor!"

The cries of the populace were accompanied by the shrill whistling peculiar to a Parisian mob. When the proceedings were ended Dreyfus was handcuffed, taken to a prison van and driven to an ordinary prison, escorted by a squad of gendarmes.

The troops then marched back to their various barracks, the crowds outside the military school cheering each detachment and shouting: "Vive la France. Vive l'Armee." On the other hand the sight of the prison van which was driven rapidly through the crowds, evoked renewed cries of "Death to the traitor!" "Death to the traitor!" The arrest of Albert Dreyfus in October last caused a sensation throughout France and it found an echo in Berlin which at one time threatened to have serious consequences. The assertion that Dreyfus sold the plans of various strongly fortified places to the Germans, the government has been vigorously denied by representatives of that nation. Similarly it has been claimed and denied that the

MERRIAM'S SAY

He Claims He is as Innocent as a Lamb in Regard to the Senatorship Contest.

Is Taking no Hand Whatever in the Fight and It is Not His Funeral.

An Earnest Effort Was Made by the Washburn Men to Induce McCleary to Withdraw.

Clough Has Promised, if Nelson Cannot Win, His Strength Will Go to McCleary Solid.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5.—If ex-Governor Merriam's word is good for anything, there need be no fear that he will take any part in the senatorial fight. A reporter called on him this morning at the Merchants' National bank. "I came home from Chicago on the train this morning," said he, "and know nothing of the situation beyond what I have read in the newspapers."

"Have you anything to say about the race for senator?" "I have nothing to say about it. I made a full statement of my position at the Reed meeting in Minneapolis and do not see why I should not be taken at my word."

"Then your position then is your position now?" "Most certainly," and the ex-governor added: "I am taking no hand whatever in this fight and I wish you would say so for me. It is not my funeral, whichever way it goes, and I have the smallest possible interest in the outcome."

When this earnest effort was made to induce Congressman J. T. McCleary to withdraw from the senatorial race, and at one time it appeared on the point of being successful. He was waited on by almost the entire delegation from the Second district and told, in all friendliness, very firmly, that there was no chance for him.

"If Washburn is not elected," said L. P. Hunt, "it will be somebody who has not yet been mentioned, and you are foolish to injure your chances." The disaster was caused by the train dispatcher at the Oakland mole, who sent both trains toward each other on the same track. Both trains had been informed that they had the right of way. They met with a fearful crash in the center of the tunnel. Both engines were badly wrecked, and the engineer of the express was pinned against the boiler for five hours before could be released. He was in great agony and made piteous appeals to be shot.

As far as can be learned no passengers were injured. A wrecking crew with physicians was immediately dispatched to the tunnel from Oakland. Division Superintendent Wilder says that the accident is the worst since he has been in charge of the division. The trains collided nine miles from a telegraph station.

PRIEST FIENDISHLY ASSAULTED.

Was Stabbed Repeatedly in the Face by an Unknown Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Rev. Father Peter D. Brady, rector of the parish of St. Mary's college, has been the victim of a fiendish assault in his own house, receiving several dangerous wounds. At 8 p. m. a well-dressed man called at the rectory, asked to see the priest on business. He was shown into a dimly lighted parlor and when the priest entered, demanded money.

"Maybe I have no money for you," answered Father Brady. With oaths and vile names the stranger sprang on the priest with an open knife, stabbing him above the left eye, turning the blade and making a triangular cut. Father Brady tried to push his assailant away, but his right hand touching the stranger's face, the villain caught the priest's finger in his mouth, biting through to the bone.

He still gripped the finger with his teeth, meanwhile stabbing Brady through the nostrils, on the cheek and cutting his mouth so that he was an inch larger. Then he beat the priest into insensibility with his fists and left the house. Father Brady was afterwards discovered by his housekeeper. Physicians believe he will recover.

CARRIED OFF A SAFE.

Robbers Removed a Heavy Safe from an Express Car.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 5.—While the northbound passenger train on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad was standing at the Coon Valley mine a few miles south of here last night and while the messenger, Frank Tarrode, was outside his car, robbers entered the car and carried away the heavy steel safe, containing $216 in money and a valuable package.

A brakeman, noticing that the lights were not burning in the express car, gave an alarm. The robbery was discovered at a searching party of fifty miners speedily organized. Half an hour later the safe was found a short distance away, unopened, the robbers having become frightened.

Sailor Fatally Stabbed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—William Burke, a sailor on board the merchant ship Kambara, was stabbed fourteen times with a dirk knife by Olaf Larson, a sailor on the same vessel, today. Burke's wounds are probably fatal.

The McGarran Claim.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senator Teller, who was the special champion in the senate of the late William McGarran in his efforts to establish his claim to the Rancho Panoche Grande grant in California, says he will not continue his labors in behalf of McGarran's heirs.

CURRENCY BILL.

The Debate on the Currency Bill in the House Resumed by Boater, of Louisiana.

He Dwelt Upon the Duty of Supporting Secretary Carlisle, Which Rested Upon the Democrats.

Cockran, of New York, Deplored the Tendency to Treat the Question as a Party One.

This is Not a Question on Which Legislators Could Advantageously Divide Along Party Lines.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The only business done by the house in the morning hour was the resumption of the debate on the currency bill by Mr. Boater (Dem.), Louisiana, who expressed surprise at the opposition to the measure which has developed on the Democratic side of the house. He paid a tribute to the abilities of Secretary Carlisle and dwelt upon the duty of supporting him, which he said rested upon the Democrats.

In the course of the speech, Mr. Boater (Dem.), Missouri, put several questions to show that the administration has adopted a gold policy and finally declared that its financial platform was a fraud if there was no intention to carry it out, asserting that the platforms should mean something.

Mr. Boater asked if Mr. Bland had not been a supporter of President Cleveland in the last campaign, whereupon Mr. Bland responded that he had supported the platform and had voted for the candidate and the party had gone down in ignominious defeat for its treachery.

Fence (Pop.), Colorado, brought up Secretary Carlisle's advocacy of silver while a member of the house in supporting the Matthews resolution, and asked if soon after accepting the treasury portfolio he had not announced his intention of paying some of the government's obligations in silver and had not been "called down."

Mr. Boater reported that it was useless to revive free silver as a factor of the currency question, Mr. Bland retorted: "You can't run the Democratic party on Republican lines and Mugwumps cannot change its policy."

Mr. Boater continued that it was the mistake of the treasury when the administration refused to pay obligations in silver as well as gold. "We should no longer keep ourselves on exhibition" Mr. Boater said, "as unable to agree on a single measure that promises relief to the people."

Mr. Lacey (Rep.), of Iowa, followed in opposition to the bill.

There was the usual filling of seats and galleries when Mr. Cockran (Dem.), New York, rose in the first aisle of the Democratic side and deplored that the tendency to treat the measure as a party one was likely to wreck it on the rocks of political expediency.

Confidence in the Democratic party in 1892 had been reversed, he said, and he did not think the constitutional provision which allowed a majority to retain power until March 5 was granted it in passing party acts.

An agitation without result, which would result in restoring business tranquility, had better be dropped. If this house succeeds in establishing a monetary system based on human reason and experience of experts, its last days will be without profit, or devoid of honor, he declared. There were, in his opinion, questions on which legislators could divide along party lines with advantage, but this was not one of them.

REPORT BY MAJ. SEARS.

Estimate of Cost of Deepening the Alloway Bay Channel.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—Major Sears, of the army engineers corps, today transmitted to congress a special report as to the improvement of Alloway bay which forms part of the harbor of Superior. He estimates that $118,430 will be required to dredge the channel, giving navigation a depth of sixteen feet, and $316,810 for a depth of twenty feet. In addition he states that the outlook pier at the Superior entrance should be rearranged at an estimated cost of $11,660.

An original pension was today granted to John Barton, of Verdala, Minn.

Fatal Explosion.

METZ, Mo., Jan. 5.—By the explosion of a boiler in C. B. Wilson's saw mill, four men were badly hurt, two of them probably fatally. The injured are C. B. Wilson, W. W. Smith, P. C. Smith and E. Gillespie. The first two will die. The boiler dome was shot into the air like a bullet, and was found a quarter of a mile distant.

A Shortage of $50,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Martin J. Vandohlen, head bookkeeper of the Clausen & Son Brewing last days was charged with the theft of $50,000 from his employers. His present whereabouts are unknown. The allegation is made that Vandohlen's salary was $5,000 a year, and that the money taken was lost in speculation.

Lacrosse at Wallisley.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Miss Hilley, the director of physical culture at Wallisley, is always on the lookout for sports which can properly be engaged in by young ladies, and her latest idea is to introduce lacrosse in the college.

THE NEXT ELECTION

The State Maker is Abroad in the City and Municipal Politics Getting Quite Lively.

A Host of Candidates for the Two Judgeships and Many Aspirants to the Council.

O. W. Baldwin Wants to be City Attorney and William Getty After the Surveyor or Generalship.

Just one month now stands between the dear people of Duluth and the next municipal election. The political pot is beginning to boil in earnest and the many cooks are rolling up their sleeves preparatory to stirring the broth. The state maker is abroad in the city and his frantic efforts to make winning combinations are enough to give a non-professional the paroxysm. Tricksters are stacking the cards and laying the same old wires they have laid so many times before. Sly old birds are hatching their favorite schemes and the cackling in the municipal barnyard increases day by day.

The Municipal Judgeship. The municipal judgeship seems to be the fairest flower in the garden. J. A. Hanks still nurses a fond ambition to wear the ermine. He goes about so quietly, however, that many have lost sight of him and his aspirations, but he is on the track with both feet and has some enthusiastic supporters.

Within the past few days the stock of W. D. Edson seems to have gone up a few points. He stands well at the bar and is ripe in legal knowledge and experience. His polished and hairless head of thought would grace a wig and his tall form would first place refuse to dignity. It is declared with vehemence that Getty and Wilcots are now personally supporting Edson instead of Benham.

J. H. Norton holds that a man does not have to be a duke to warrant him to sit on a bench. He is a stout, well-built man, with a good deal of out for blood and first place refuses to make any combinations, although strongly urged to do so by several fellow aspirants, and declares that he will not give up the fight until the last gun is fired.

Ellsworth Benham, assistant city attorney, still feels that Roger S. Powell's shoes would just fit his Oboe feet and while he is not making many motions, he keeps his weather eye on the rest of the fellows in the game.

Judge Isaac E. West has an idea that this is a better year for a favorite son of the R. O. P. in Duluth than when he was snowed under three years ago. That is one reason why he wants to breathe foul air and deliver opinions in the deadly municipal court room.

J. D. Holmes has "waited" and eaten at the second table until he thinks he is worthy of better treatment. He is holding up both hands for first place, but it is said, would not refuse second place, but of sort of consolation prize, if the good of the party of Lincoln, Grant and Garfield seemed to demand it.

Homor B. Dibble, the choice of the Bar association, has not been much discussed lately, but he is still in the race for all he is worth. He is nominated, elected, it is said, by the "Dish" and Sharv's under sheriff, will be clerk of the municipal court.

Several of the friends of A. R. McDonald have urged that he become a candidate but he says that he is rather practiced as a land attorney before Register Taylor.

Judge Eric L. Winje was a candidate some time ago, but he has not expressed himself lately.

There will be quite a scramble for the clerkship. Frank Burke is the earth's second time" and wants the place. John F. McLaren has given up his desire for the city clerkship and will grab for C. Powell Gray's shoes.

T. H. Fairfax, who used to be a lawyer but lately has been a dealer in dirt, also wants the place. There are others in the brush but they have not yet come out into the stumpy clearing.

For Special Judge. Undoubtedly the aspirants for the signs of the times, as interpreted and touched by one of the present aldermen who will build over, are that Dr. W. G. Goff will not be continued as health officer. The revised ordinance makes this a one-year office, just like that of city clerk, and a change in health officer is more than a possibility.

Doctors Taylor, Routh, Chase and Murray have been mentioned as either desiring the place or as possessing excellent qualifications for the position. When the battle really opens up, probably some three names will not be in the field, but if they are not half a dozen others will be on hand for every one of the above not present.

City Clerk C. E. Richardson will not have it all his own way for reappointment. Some of the present aldermen are said to desire a change and then there about too fellows who would like to toss their hats to the new 16 foot cannon. Mr. Richardson will make a strong pull for a third term and the man who beats him will have to play his cards in a pretty good manner.

The Alderman Candidates. Alderman aspirants are beginning their attempts to shake the political plum tree. Out in the Fifth ward Alderman Hale, up to date, has no open opponent as his own success. Alderman Hale not only is an able attorney, but he has an extensive knowledge of English grammar, which fact is a source of great pride to the college-bred people in his ward. S. M. Sterrett, the druggist, is credited with an ambition to become an alderman.

Alderman Evans, so far, seems to have things about his own way in the Second ward. He is not the first choice of every single voter out there but no able-bodied opposition has yet materialized. Mr. Evans is getting up a rail fence and the man who knocks the persimmon before he does will have to clamber high and bustle hard. William B. Logan, the grocerman, is the only candidate against Evans heard of as yet.

Uncle Bill Harwood will have opposition in name and perhaps in fact in the Third ward. J. L. Dow holds that Harwood "sold out" to the gas and water company, hence will enter the lists as his opponent. E. S. Radcliffe is also in the field, and it is said that other candidates will attempt to screw up their courage within a few days and blossom out as candidates in that ward. Some think that Mr. Harwood is too much inclined to make speeches in season and out of season, but he has been a faithful, hard working, competent man on committee work and that covers a multitude of hobbies and any over-indulgence in oratory.

When it comes to Republican timber in the Fourth ward Alderman Christensen finds his only opposition in ex-Alderman N. F. Hugo. Both candidates are on the stump and put in a Republican convention settle the contest. The Fourth ward comes pretty close to being controlled by the Democrats and Populists. Few of the members of those parties in that ward claim to be college graduates and members of the 400, they do not believe in fighting an aldermanic campaign. Allen is a god issue, hence are inclined to support the most competent candidate, regardless of party and political belief. One thing, they are opposed to Alderman Nelson because the irrepressible Pork Pointers, those faithful retainers of Frank Osborne, will have to promise something in the line of a steady stream of pork.

In the Fifth ward, George William Goldsmith will be opposed for the nomination by Phil Westaway. Devoid of a rain show, pretenses and unnecessary use of his organs of speech, Mr. Goldsmith not only has done his duty toward his constituents but has been a faithful, intelligent, member of the council. The people of the Fifth ward evidently know a good thing when they see it and believe in pushing it along.

Up to date Capt. Allen seems to be J. W. Nelson's only opponent in the peaceable Sixth ward. E. Downey and H. S. Hill were spoken of, but they have given it out that they have no bees in their bonnets. A few of the Sixth warders are opposed to Alderman Nelson because he belongs to the gun club, and because he shot clay pigeons up at Spirit Lake one Sunday. Capt. Allen ran a ship yard for his hobby last summer and only came back recently. He got a taste of office holding by securing some position in the state reform school. He came up for his hobby last summer and was supported by Mr. Nelson. He next wanted to be factory inspector for the state. Now he is after Nelson's seat in the council. Mr. Nelson is a talker, and as such would not come amiss in the council. He also makes a rattling good prayer which some hold as prima facie evidence that he is a good man. He does not shoot clay pigeons on Sunday. He, too, has the endorsement of Rev. R. H. Craig, the muscular Christian, and has a good deal of support and is strong in the hearts of his constituents. Nothing short of an earthquake and slide can retire him to private life.

Alderman French in the Seventh ward did not expect to run again but he has been criticized and punched a little for his actions on the water-works purchase and has decided to stand again, although if his people want another man, he will shed tears and nurse no bitterness. George A. Mallory and L. A. Barnes are in the field against him and they will have their hands full, some of the Seventh warders say.

Alderman Olson stands in the same position as Alderman French when it comes to a second term. He will have a whole lot of opposition, too. Andy Miles has an idea that with a pair of birch pants and a box of cigars he can beat Olson. Dr. Rockefeller would like to be a city father. He could furnish his professional services when ever a new suburb was born. A Bagley, the lumberman, has an idea that he can spare enough time to look after the interests of the Eighth ward in the council, and Anthony Johnson, the disciple of Blackstone, feels just the same way himself. The cold weather is keeping back several other candidates, but they undoubtedly will blossom out as soon as the weather moderates. Fond du Lac and New Duluth may have some candidates.

THE RENOWNED CHEMIST.
W. H. Morse, M.D., F. R. S. C. Also Editor of the Westfield Leader of New Jersey.
Professor Morse, who is also author of a medical work entitled "New Therapeutic Agents," writes: "Per-ru-na, manufactured by The Per-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, of Columbus, Ohio, has commended itself to medical men and their patients as a specific for a gripe and its sequel. It fully approves itself for this purpose, and is a remedial for all bronchial troubles. Its action is both local and constitutional and is entirely harmless. The distinction accorded to it belongs to no other remedy of which we know."

PROFESSOR W. H. MORSE.
No matter what part of the mucous membrane the irritation of acute catarrh is located, Per-ru-na is the only remedy that will, under all circumstances, effect a cure. In acute catarrh the dose of Per-ru-na is a teaspoonful every two hours during the day, which will invariably effect a cure in from seven to ten days. In chronic catarrh Per-ru-na should be taken, three or four times a day, after meals, and at bedtime. This dose should be gradually increased to two teaspoonfuls at each meal. If not cured by end of one month write Dr. Hartman, Answer free.

Everyone should have a free copy of our address book on catarrh. Sent free by address by the Per-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, of Columbus, Ohio.

A Star Number.

San Francisco Daily Report: One of the brightest and breeziest special issues of the year is that of The Duluth Evening Herald under date of December 17th. This star number contains forty pages of substantial reading and is a credit to Duluth and The Herald. It mirrors the advantages of Duluth as a place of investment and in an earnest and able manner discusses the past, present and future of the city. There is no attempt to boom Duluth real estate, there is no attempt to deal in glittering generalities, but on the contrary The Herald has apparently been to the line.

The territory strictly tributary to Duluth is described in great detail, the commercial value of that territory is indicated by facts and figures, and, incidentally, Jay Cooke's old saying is quoted: "By the lakes it is no farther from Duluth to Buffalo than from Chicago; yet from Duluth to Buffalo is 600 miles less than from San Francisco to Chicago. From Japan to the sound is 800 miles less than from Japan to San Francisco, so in Asiatic traffic there is a saving of 1400 miles."

The miscellaneous features of The Herald are admirable and altogether it is a worthy production of the fourth estate.

The Weather.
Jan. 5.—During the past twenty-four hours barometric depression of moderate energy has moved southward from the Dakotas and Western Minnesota and general but light snowfall in the Northern Rocky mountain region and thence east to Ontario and Michigan. Light snow is also reported in Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas. The weather is generally cloudy this morning in all districts.

The temperature has risen decidedly in all reporting districts north and west of the Ohio valley, except in the region north of Montana, where it has fallen.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 8 degrees; maximum yesterday, 4 degrees; minimum yesterday, 12 degrees below zero.

DULUTH, Jan. 5.—Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Snow; warmer southeast winds followed during Sunday by colder northerly.

JAMES KENNELLY,
Local Forecast Official.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Local snows today; local snows and no warmer tonight and Sunday; increasing southeast winds. For Minnesota: Light snow today; local snow and warmer tonight; Sunday fair with cold by evening; southeast shifting to northwest winds by evening.

As to the Senatorship.
"My paper supports Washburn," said Mr. Hartley, when asked by a St. Paul reporter his opinion of the senatorial question. It would be base ingratitude if the News Tribune did not support Mr. Washburn, after all the favors which he did its owners in securing legislation at Washington to advance their private interests. Of course Mr. Hartley and the News Tribune support Washburn even though they are fully convinced now that he is a beaten man. This morning they acknowledge all The Herald's statements "for the sake of argument." In a few days they will be compelled by force of circumstances to admit them without any proviso.

But while admitting that The Herald is right in declaring that it is now a free-for-all race for senator, the News Tribune contends that a Duluth man cannot be elected. Why? Here is its reason:

"Duluth is the home of the corporation. It has neither votes nor influence to trade. If Minneapolis can not elect a senator, Duluth can not in any event."

In an interview in the same issue, Mr. Hartley says: "If we had a great number of votes that could exchange with the farmers and aid them in their schemes there might be some possible chance for a Duluth man to get the senatorship, but we have practically nothing to offer in exchange. Washburn's county, one-tenth the size of ours, has twice as many votes in the legislature as Duluth and all that part of the state within 100 miles of us. Now what in the name of common sense have we to offer for a United States senatorship?"

The Herald protests against these slurs upon Duluth and upon the Republicans of St. Louis county. Duluth is not the home of the corporation. It is the home of thousands of workmen and merchants who have no connection with corporations. Their hearts beat in sympathy with those of their fellow citizens in other parts of the state, and they are as sincere and as earnest as the farmers in opposition to corporate influence in politics.

Looking through corporate glasses, the News Tribune may be unable to appreciate this fact; if so, that is its own loss.

Again the News Tribune declares that Duluth "has neither votes nor influence to trade," and Mr. Hartley asks: "What in the name of common sense have we to offer for a United States senatorship?" This is the old cry that has kept Duluth in the background of the political arena of this state. It is the song that has been sung by the politicians who have been in the habit of going to St. Paul and Washington and agreeing to deliver the Duluth vote to whoever would advance their private schemes. There was a time when that game worked, but that time has passed by. Duluth has grown too large for these little politicians to handle. The Duluth vote is something that no one man or set of men can deliver. It is growing rapidly, and it is very independent.

Duluth will gain no influence politically as long as she sits still and makes no effort to gain influence, while men with axes to grind use her vote as trading material. Duluth has as much to offer for a United States senatorship as any other section of the state. When Duluth arose and asserted her strength she obtained a congressman. The opportunity is now presented of gaining a United States senator. It is a chance that should not be lost. The farmers of Minnesota have a friendly feeling towards Duluth, and their aid can be depended upon to a great extent.

A Labor Commission Plan.
Representative Phillips, of Pennsylvania, has expressed a willingness to pay $250,000 out of his own pocket to meet the expense of the labor commission in accordance with the terms of a bill he has presented. This pledge of earnestness has drawn such favorable attention to the merits of Mr. Phillips' bill that Chairman McGann, of the labor committee, has appointed a special subcommittee with Representative Erdman, of Pennsylvania, at its head, to consider the measure.

The attention of Labor Commissioner Wright has also been directed to it, together with Mr. Phillips' assurance of protecting the government against the expense of the commission. As a result the bill for national arbitration of labor difficulties for the time being in abeyance, while the merits of the Phillips bill are being considered, Mr. Phillips is one of the wealthiest men in congress, and while his suggestion has been modestly made, there is no doubts of his willingness and ability to execute it.

The plan of a labor commission is the result of much careful study Mr. Phillips has given the subject. His idea is that the country is not ready for law on the many industrial issues, as the best form of remedy is not yet apparent. He therefore proposes in his bill that a commission of experts shall consider the many plans of reform proposed, separating the good from the bad and ascertaining the most feasible legislation to be recommended to congress. The commission is to be non-partisan and is to consider legislation to meet the problems of labor, agriculture and capital.

The bill authorizes the appointment by the president of five commissioners representing labor, five representatives of agriculture and five of business. Each group of five is to choose two more members, making seven in each group and twenty-one in all. The commission is to meet in Washington, elect its officers, and each group is to have the services of a lawyer and secretary.

The bill provides that "it shall be the duty of this commission to investigate questions pertaining to immigration, to labor, to agriculture, and to business, and recommend to congress such legislation as it may deem best upon these subjects. It shall furnish such information and suggest such laws as may be made the basis for uniform legislation by the various states in order to harmonize conflicting interests, and to be equitable to the laborer, the employer, the producer, and the consumer. The commission shall receive petitions and grant reasonable time for hearings on subjects pertaining to its duties, and, if deemed necessary, it shall appoint a sub-committee or commissions to make investigations in any part of the United States and it shall be allowed expenses for the same."

The expense of the large number of commissioners, clerks, stenographers, lawyers, etc., proposed by the bill, has raised a question against the bill, and has brought out Mr. Phillips' offer to protect the government, to the extent of $250,000 out of his own pocket, against the expenses of the officers and employees of the commission. The special committee having the bill in charge expect to consider the bill and perhaps grant hearings on it at an early day.

The American Railways.
The railroad situation in the United States today is not very encouraging to either home or foreign investors who have placed their money in such investments. During the past year the net earnings of American railroads have averaged a bare 1 per cent on their capital of $11,000,000,000, while England, with $5,000,000,000 invested has averaged over 3 per cent. Passenger rates in England are 35 per cent higher than in this country, but the right-of-way there are much more costly.

In its issues of this week The Railway Age gives a list of receiverships and foreclosures in 1894, showing that many railway companies have been compelled to cease the payment of their interest obligations and turn to the courts for protection against disintegration and destruction by the attacks of their creditors. The record of insolvencies for last year is fortunately not so appalling as that of the panic year 1893, when seventy-four companies with over 20,000 miles of lines and representing over $1,750,000,000 of investments confessed bankruptcy, but it is still alarmingly large and has been equalled in magnitude only by the three disastrous years 1892, 1893 and 1894; for the Railway Age's investigations show that during the year 1894 receivers were appointed for thirty-eight companies, having 7025 miles of road, with a funded debt of $106,647,000 and capital stock amounting to $109,144,000 an aggregate capitalization of $305,791,000.

During the past eleven years 347 roads with a mileage of 11,337 and with stock and bonds aggregating $4,271,372,000, have gone into the hands of receivers. About 25 per cent of the railway mileage of the United States is now in the hands of receivers, and a good many other roads are today not very far from that unfortunate condition. The great failures, however, like those of the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading, Erie, Richmond & Danville, East Tennessee and a few others which have so greatly swollen the list, are, in the Age's opinion, probably not likely to be paralleled.

The St. Paul Dispatch says: "It must be plainly apparent in these piping times of legislative canvassing and caucusing that the evening paper is the one to give the news. For activity, hustle, life, energy, bustle and their long line of synonyms the evening paper leaves the slow morning clock twelve hours out of sight." This truth has been strikingly illustrated in Duluth this week.

The Herald on Thursday exclusively announced the entrance of Governor Nelson into the senatorial contest and the withdrawal of Mr. Gibbs from the speakership fight. Last night The Herald gave over a column of the latest political gossip at St. Paul, and the morning paper today had only about twenty lines from St. Paul.

The New York exposures make street cleaning figures interesting. London, with by far the largest mileage, heads the list with something not very far from $4,000,000. Then comes New York with $2,367,390; Paris, $1,700,000; Berlin, $1,500,000; Vienna, $600,000; Boston, $730,000; Philadelphia, $565,600; Brooklyn, $678,000; Glasgow, $300,000. These figures go to prove that for the area the cost of street cleaning in New York is nearly double that of any other city in the world.

There is one advantage with this year possesses over 1894—it will be exempt from tariff changes that disturb business. Merchants and manufacturers will have this year to themselves so far as tariff legislation is concerned. They have no cause for fearing that any of their projects or enterprises will receive setbacks because of party action one side or the other respecting duties on imported articles. Thus a great obstacle to better times has been temporarily removed, and the result must be highly beneficial to the entire country.

An anecdote of Gladstone is going the rounds which shows how carefully he makes use of every moment of his time. One day the great Englishman went to visit a friend, and after an interesting conversation of an hour left the room for a few minutes. On returning he found Gladstone deeply immersed in a book, which was carried for use at just such spare moments as this. This was Gladstone's method of utilizing every minute, but it is not fair to conclude that every man should do the same.

The pressure of public opinion at Port Huron, Mich., forced the price of bread from 5 to 2 cents. The bakers declared they were ruined, but they made money by it, as in a few days the hundreds of families that had previously baked their own bread came to them for the cheap article.

The message of the governor of Pennsylvania gives some interesting figures on the costly character of strikes. In the fifty-three strikes which occurred in that state in 1893, the loss of wages to the strikers was $1,395,423.75, while the loss to the employers was estimated at $131,650.

Already one Hennepin county member has refused to support Washburn.

Ad Dorotheum.
I know where there is a little girl to be met for a certain little friend of mine; And, Dorothy, I know where daisies are That only wait small hands to intervene A wreath for such a golden head as thine.

The thought that thou art coming makes all cloud.
The house is bright with blossoms high and low,
And many a little lass and little lad
Expectantly are running to and fro;
The fire within our hearths is all aglow.

We want thee, child, to share in our delight
On this happy day, the holiest and best;
Be thou the center of our joyous throng,
The granddame of our women's love;
Made me of men most honored and most blest.

That naughty boy who led thee to suppose
He was thy sweetheart, has I grieve to tell,
Been seen to steal thy hand and kiss thee
And tattle with it to another belle.
Who does not treat him altogether well.

But mind not that, or let it teach thee this—
To waste no love on any youthful rover
(All youths are rovers, I assure thee, Miss.)
No, if thou wouldst be a constant discover,
Thy grandpapa is perfect as a lover.

So come, then, playmate of my closing day,
The latest love I have to offer thee,
And with thy baby laughter make us gay.
Thy fresh young voice shall sing, my Dorothy,
Songs that shall bid the feet of heaven fly.

As an aid to superior cookery Dr. Price's baking powder, besides its greater purity, is of higher leavening power than any other.

Youth's Companion: A laughable little story is told of the witness stand in a French court. She asked her age, and she answered that she was 30 years old.

"But," said the magistrate, "did you not tell me you were 30 when you appeared before me two years ago?"
"I think it very likely," she replied, "saying that I was 30 years old, and not at all abashed, I am not one of those women who say one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

Mr. Hays' Boom.
Minneapolis Tribune: The fight for the secretaryship of the senate seems to have narrowed down to two or three candidates, of whom M. A. Hays, of Duluth, and S. A. Langum, of Preston, are the strongest. Several Duluth people in St. Paul today were helping Hays, and in addition there were men from other parts of the Sixth district booming him. His support includes senators from nearly every part of the state. The Duluth people say that their county, with its 5000 Republican plurality and great population, should be recognized by the Republicans of the legislature in a substantial manner.

The Situation Was Inviting.
St. Paul Pioneer Press: It became apparent some weeks ago that the general expectation that Mr. Washburn was to meet with no serious opposition was to be disappointed; that his avowed supporters were a minority, and not a large minority of the legislature. The fact that a considerable majority of the legislature was either actively opposed to him or non-committal constituted a situation which naturally invited the competition of other candidates. Mr. Comstock was allured by the opportunity which presented itself to take the field. Mr. McCleary, with the record of his brilliant and effective campaign to commend him to Republican favor, was tempted to try his fortunes. Then there was no reason why Governor Nelson, whose splendid record with the record of his brilliant and effective campaign to commend him to Republican favor, was tempted to try his fortunes.

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

Unusual Activity All the Week Among the Members of the Labor Unions in Duluth.

President Debs, of the American Railway Union, to Speak at the Temple Tomorrow Evening.

The Subject of His Address Will be Labor Unions, and a Big Crowd is Expected.

While the Federated Trades assembly held no meeting, there has been unusual activity among the members of the labor unions all the week. Eugene V. Debs, the president of the A. R. U., is the cause of it all, too. Unless the United States court says nay with a couple of days, next Tuesday morning Mr. Debs will begin to serve a couple of life sentences of six months each. In the meanwhile he is out on a lecture tour and will visit Duluth, last Sunday, Roy Goodwin, one of the directors of the A. R. U., who has a jail sentence hanging over his head also, was in Duluth and made preliminary arrangements for Mr. Debs' visit to Duluth. Monday night the assembly held a special meeting and made further arrangements. The Temple Opera house has been secured and the prominent champion of organized labor, who speaks in St. Paul Saturday night, will arrive in Duluth Sunday morning and speak Sunday evening. Labor unions will be his theme and a crowd of 25 cents will be charged but no reserved seats will be supplied. Those first to come will have a corresponding choice of seats.

The Typographical union will hold its regular meeting tomorrow, and next Friday evening the regular meeting of the assembly will take place.

By bestowal of highest honors at the Chicago and Midwinter fairs on Dr. Price's baking powder the government experts and jury of awards confirm it as superior to any other.

WEIGHING THE CALM.

Following One Storm, it is the Forerunner of Another?

A calm has fallen upon us. The great movements that started the storm have sprung up from the depths of the people's distress, that swept like huge waves over the country and dashed themselves against the very foundations of society until they shivered, have ebbed away, and all is quiet. The turbulence and excitement arising from a mighty discontent beating itself vainly against a mighty force have died away. There is peace in the land. But is there happiness?

Many of us have turned to our own enjoyments and congenial occupations with relief because we no longer hear the snarl of savage, hungry men, the moan of starving women, the pitiful cry of the children. We try to satisfy ourselves that, after all, there is little suffering among the working people and the turmoil was only because of their natural belligerence. Since they are quiet now, couldn't they have remained so all the time?

But peace does not always mean prosperity, nor does silence signify happiness. These three pictures painted by the great Russian realist, Vereshchagin, which represent the slow freezing to death of a lone sentry under the remorseless, falling snow, show how peace may descend upon the last depths of human suffering. There are signals to the great dramas which have been enacted before the public, but they are rehearsed in private. In one glance over a single labor journal one can count more dead stories than the results of the past struggles than one cares to repeat.

Down in the coal regions of Illinois four sober, hardworking men have recently been sentenced to prison for terms of three and five years because they were present in a crowd when two men—one a militiaman and the other a citizen—lost their lives last summer. Like Felix Holt, Mr. Geher, in an address that touched the hearts of hardened officials, pleaded his own cause and that of Heartzeats, Caddie and Jones, showing that they were but striving to turn the current of anger men when they were arrested. Thirty more men are under indictment at the same court—men with helpless families, men who would work hard if the work were to be had at wages sufficient to feed themselves and families. Others are serving sentences in various parts of the country for "acts of violence" said to be committed during the great coal strike. We all remember the stories we used to hear during those days, such tales of distress, misery and desperation as made even the rich recoil in dismay, and many of us did not believe that human beings could return to such conditions of labor again, but that some change for the better must come of it all. We hear nothing nowadays. No one is violent or turbulent or troublesome. But it is not because they are better off. Several hundred poor fellows are in prison, several thousand have joined the army of tramps, and the rest have gone back to that hardest, deadliest, poorest paid toil of civilization—digging coal from out the depths of the earth.

The deep interest that centered around the town of Pullman has died away. There are no crowds out there now, no government troops, no entry. Shall we imagine, then, that the model town is really all it professes to be and everybody is prosperous there? Let us not be too sure. Some good women of this city have recently investigated affairs there and have found families huddled together for warmth in the little cottages, with not a morsel of food or a lump of coal in the house and very little clothing. Families have been set out in the streets to separate and wander away—to the hospital, the poorhouse, the bridge. A few hundred families have gone away to strange places and untold scenes to meet all sorts of unknown fates. Some of them went back to work for the Pullman company, to paying high rents out of low wages, to trying to make their incomes suffice by eating and wearing less than they need. The relief board exists no longer, but helplessness and children do. The carping, long drawn out sorrows of the poor victims of the struggle are all the more pathetic for the quiet in which they suffer.

And where are the valiant railway boys who were putting the railroad magnates to their wits' ends awhile ago? We hear very little of them now. They do not assemble in crowds, their "contempt of court" is no longer audibly expressed, and the militia once required to watch them are only busy trying to get their "script" pay discounted. Are we to suppose, then, that they are all at work and prosperous, and that they have merely subsided from a rabid and unreasonable attack of restlessness? An item in my labor journal says they are being blacklisted all over the west, and while the railway managers deny the existence of such a document, it is true that thousands cannot obtain work of any description when once it is known they were connected with the strike. One thousand men in Denver alone are suffering from this cause. Thousands of men who have always lived well and respectably are now wandering from place to place, hopelessly seeking for any kind of a chance to earn a living.

We hear no more of large organized bodies of tramps marching through the country, spreading dismay among the farmers in the backwoods and the congressmen in legislative halls, with their demand for "bread right now and work as soon as possible." No one worries about the army of the unemployed. They are no longer banded together; they are petitioning nobody, frightening no one. Are they, then, all safely at work, sleeping and eating in homes of their own? Lay not the flattering notion to your soul. Look once at the group hanging about cheap lodging houses, the city hall, the bridges, the lake front, the site of new buildings, and know that they are some of those same worried and worn marchers, ragged, thinner, more hopeless and dejected than ever before. They are scattered through the country, wandering about by twos and threes, barely keeping themselves alive somehow and expecting nothing of anything or anybody any more. Their leaders have been kept to keep off the grass. Kelly has been terribly clubbed and is now in prison at one extremity of the continent, as Coxey and Brown were clubbed and imprudently at the other.

Each of these movements, entered into with a desperate earnestness arising from the people's great need, has apparently failed of accomplishing the special object toward which it was directed. Now that the participants are no longer heard from every day we are apt to think carelessly that they have melted away or been miraculously transformed into prosperous people. But, ah, the poverty, the unwilling idleness, the drudgery exist as badly today as ever. There are no more homes for the poor, there were last summer, and those who are at work toil harder and longer for less pay and run the same old risks of being slashed up in machinery, blown alive, choked to death, burned, buried and poisoned.

The calm is deceitful. While conditions are as they are, there can be no permanent peace. One upheaval will follow another until at last some great change in our industrial systems shall be brought about, and justice shall be done. The real good that the seeming failures have accomplished is that they have prepared the people for other great movements and eventually for a radical change.

What the next great wave may be we cannot know. But there are already indications that point to a peaceful, natural solution, and if the tendency should take the popular sweep of the other movements the whole economic situation may be gradually and peacefully transformed. The sound and spirit of co-operation are in the air. Colonies for many different localities in the country are organizing everywhere. Each school of economic thought is considering the building up of a home far away from the struggle, where rent, hard times, lack of wages, are no longer the prime factors of life; where in equal exchange of the products of equal labor all can live, whatever the effect of bonds, tariff, contracted currency, demonetized money, may be on society in general. If working people in great numbers should adopt the colonization idea, as they seem likely to do, it will eventually affect the industries and markets in such a way as to make capitalists open their eyes to some startling truths.

This may not be the next step in progress, but the signs point that way. However, that may be, the quiet we have now is but the quivering silence preceding a storm. It is but a momentary lull.

Another Attack on Powderly. A recent dispatch from Philadelphia says: Considerable indignation is manifested at this element of the Knights of Labor still loyal to Mr. Powderly over a bitter although veiled attack upon him which was worked into the biography of the late Uriah S. Stephens, the founder of the order, and which was published in the official journal on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Knights. The article says that during the latter end of his service as general master workman Stephens was surrounded by wires and intrigues all personally directed against himself, and that, finding himself unable to combat the intrigues, he retired from his office a broken down man, with the work of years falling heavily upon him. It is also described how, when forced to the road and Powderly forced to the front, Stephens surrendered his office and authority to Powderly with "tears in his eyes."

This fragment of alleged ancient history is supposed to have been resurrected at this time in order to justify the later intrigues against Powderly and show that he has simply been hoist by his own petard. Old members of the order, however, emphatically deny the story as now told and say that Stephens retired simply because the overwhelming sentiment of the order was against the thick veil of mystery with which he sought to surround it.

Partly a Rumor.

There is a rumor, which has been particularly confirmed, that Knox, Mullen and Compton, the mediation committee of the American Railway union, were about to be prosecuted for the murder of English and his wife, who were States soldiers in the wreck near here.

According to the story, the friends of the three men accused of wrecking and of other offenses during the strike had made arrangements with the railroad by which the charges against them were not to be pressed in the courts, and they will never be brought to trial at Woodland. One man, S. J. Worden, has been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged.—San Francisco Associated Press Dispatch.

Allen Strike Workers.

The committee on resolutions of the American Federation of Labor convention reported favorably upon a resolution asking congress to pass a law making it an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment for any employer to employ during a strike or lockout of his employees aliens who have resided in the country for less than a year who have not declared their intention of becoming citizens. The resolution was referred to the executive committee for investigation as to the constitutionality of such a law.

WRIGHT ON THE STRIKE.

The Commissioner of Labor Lectures on Pullman to College Students.

Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, lectured before the students of the University of Minnesota, Monday night, on the subject of the Pullman strike. Colonel Wright talked for nearly two hours, making his principal subject the Chicago strike. He began his discourse by first giving the condition of the Pullman strike.

He illustrated the situation by four piles of pins, one representing the $30,000,000 capital of the Pullman company and the managing ability of Mr. Pullman, the second representing the $34,000,000 surplus of the Pullman company, the third the capital of the workmen—that is, their skill, ability and strength—and the fourth the surplus of the workmen—that is, their savings, some $600,000.

Now, the condition of affairs," he said, "is this: The labor of the workmen in Pullman in connection with the Pullman company has amassed their surplus of $34,000,000. Everything is running along smoothly until there comes a time of stress, when the managers of the company refuse to take contracts at a loss, if they can get them at all. "They find that their expenses must be cut down, and they reduce the wages of the workmen. With reduced wages the workmen are compelled to fall back on their reserve, and their savings are wiped out. Then comes an impairment of health and earning ability through insufficient nourishment caused by low wages. Now, the question arises, 'Why should labor be compelled to fall back on a reserve of savings to tide over the depression?'"

"The Pullman company has a surplus of 72 2-3 cents for every dollar of capital, and yet in their last period of depression it was enabled to keep that reserve unimpaired by the same means, and to pay dividends of 8 per cent on the capital of $36,000,000.

"Capital can and always has thrown the stress of 'hard times' upon the workmen. The question is, is it right, and, if not, what can be done?"

"Would there be a $25,000,000 surplus if it were not for the enterprise and ability of Mr. Pullman?" was asked.

Colonel Wright replied: "No, and neither would it be there if it were not for the skill, the energy, the enterprise and the ability of the workmen. One is essential to the other. The mutual interdependence of labor and capital is easily understood. Both are necessary, and without one the other is powerless. Now, why should one be compelled to bear all the burden of mutual distress and the other escape free?"

"This strike is an epoch making episode. In feudal times physical might made right. We have outgrown that stage and are advancing toward a higher plane. The laborer, custom and public opinion of today uphold the Pullman company in their course of action. Will it continue to do so? Have we not come to the point when we must recognize more fully the right of labor? Again, the question is ethical and not economic."

A Decision in the Hicks Case.

Attorney Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, who represented the defense of some of the officials of the American Railway union who are charged with conspiracy to boycott Pullman cars, had this to say of the decision made by Judge Dallas in the Hicks case:

"The question is as to whether or not this is the law. I cannot refrain from commenting on the diametrically opposite conclusions which the courts have drawn in regard to it. Now, if it be the law that a railroad company has the right to say it will not employ any member of a certain labor organization or discharge men who do so belong, then it would seem to follow that the employee has a perfect right to say he will not work for a company which bans a certain kind of car. Yet the counsel for the government in the Debs case argued that to quit the service of a railroad company because it hauled Pullman cars was a boycott, and a boycott was a crime. In my opinion, the decision simply furnishes another illustration that our judges are so environed with their past associations have been such as to lead them to believe that everything demanded by capital is right, and everything demanded by labor is wrong."

A Bellamy Colony in South America.
A recent dispatch from Guthrie, O. T., says: Rev. L. N. Merrifield has returned from a three months' trip to South America. He spent the time in looking up a location for a co-operative colony to be organized on the Bellamy plan. He succeeded in getting conditional grants to nearly 900,000 acres of fertile land lying along the Magdalena river in Venezuela and Colombia. The land is all fertile and contains fine town sites, and the government of the two countries will extend the grant to ten times the amount secured if people enough can be secured to settle upon it.

Co-operative Colonies.
An interesting sign of the times is the almost daily reports in the newspapers of the formation or attempted formation of co-operative, socialistic, altruistic or single tax communities by people discontented with the social order decreed by law or custom and eager to make the attempt to put into practice the particular remedies for social and industrial ills in which they have faith. Some of the reports are harmless or greatly exaggerated no doubt, but there are enough such enterprises under way to indicate a very interesting condition of the public mind.—Chicago Times.

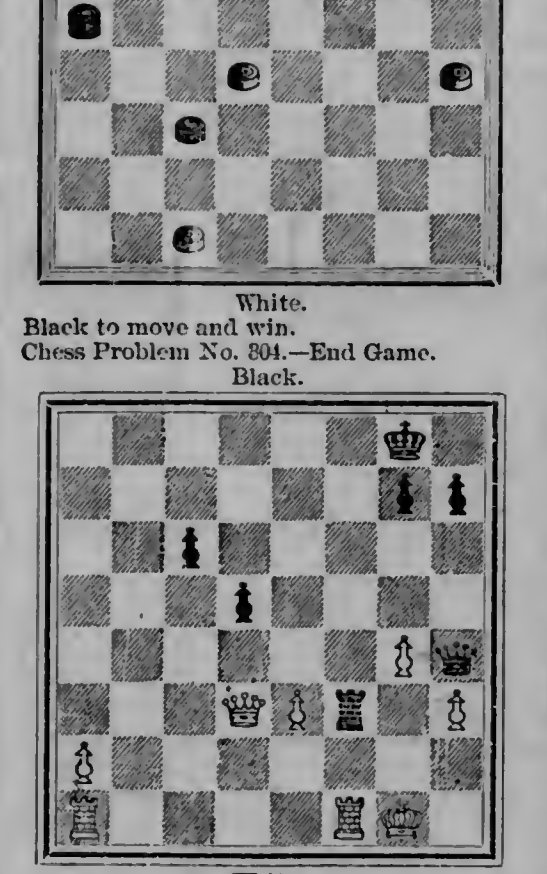

A Strong Organization.
The American Flint Glass Workers' union is reported to be in excellent shape. Its strike against the United States glass works is said to have cost it only out of a total of 500 strikers. Most of the other men have found employment.

Crucial tests of baking powders were had at the Columbian and Midwinter fairs. Dr. Price's received highest honors at both.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"Charley's Aunt," the Famous New York Comedy Success to Be at the Temple Next Week.

"Von Yonson," Gus Heege's Swedish Dialect Play, Coming to the Lyceum for Two Nights.

Robert G. Ingersoll to Lecture at the Lyceum on "The Bible" on Sunday, Jan. 13.

Like many great stage successes the most extraordinary farce comedy success of the century did not start out to be what it is now. "Charley's Aunt" in four or five different languages and in seven different countries, began its career as a serious drama. Brandon Thomas wrote it for such. Its whole interest centered in the renunciation of Sir Francis Chesney and Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez after twenty years of separation the re-kindling of their latent love and their final joyful joining of hands in wedlock. Sir Francis was about to lose his fortune. Donna Lucia popped up from Brazil "where the nuts come from" in time to make him happy her multi-millions. The old lady who has since made millions of people laugh till their eyes ran tears and their sides were sore, was in the original play, but held only a subordinate place. She was funny though, and the laughs rolled up from the audience to her all the while she was on the stage. More laughs turned the fate of the piece for they suggested to one man in the cast that the play was being worked over he proceeded to change its title.

"It was noticed," said Manager Charles Frohman recently, "that during the first two weeks the play was done in the English provinces the audiences found no interest in the serious portion of the drama. They simply yawned through the scenes when the dramatic characters were on the stage, and did not wake up until the bogus aunt came on, when they roared heartily. When she left the stage they lapsed into their old tired feeling and remained in a trance as it were until the old lady came on again. W. S. Penley, who was playing the part of the aunt, first noticed this fact, and it gave him the eye to a little bit here and there to his business. Every new bit he tried worked all right. At the end of two weeks he made a proposition to Brandon Thomas to change the tone of the play. L. C. all dramatists Mr. Thomas was slow to see the advisability of a change. When he did alter the piece it was with protest and the changes were but slight. He hated to mar his work. Penley took hold of it and gradually, night after night, Mr. Thomas saw his own work disappear and the farcical features leaped into prominence. He growled and kicked a little but Penley prevailed and when the play went into London it was exactly the shape in which Duluth will now see it, and it made the greatest success that the English theatrical world has known in its line for twenty years.

"Charley's Aunt" is in its second year in London, and is still crowding the theater as it is playing in Berlin. The motion of the play, to which Brandon Thomas was so strongly opposed at first, was later cause for great gratification. The three comedians have made Brandon Thomas and Comedian Penley independently rich. They have each taken a fortune out of the London run of the piece, and as it is playing in Berlin, in France, in Stockholm, Sweden, in South Africa, in Australia, in New York and Boston, the reader can see that these two fortunate gentlemen are enjoying a veritable shower of gold.

Everywhere it has been produced it has made a great hit, and no single run yet has been interrupted except the New York one, which had to come to an end on account of the Chicago engagement of the company. In London "Charley's Aunt" is in its second year. In Berlin and Stockholm it has been running some time and is soon to be done in Paris. So you see Brandon Thomas build wiser than he knew when he exercised his dramatic carpentry on "Charley's Aunt." The play that failed when it was serious has flourished as a act whirl of fun. "Charley's Aunt" will be at the Temple Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Jan. 8 and 9.

"YON YONSON."

Jacob Litt's Swedish Dialect Play at the Lyceum on Monday Next.

On Monday evening next patrons of the Lyceum theater will have an opportunity of witnessing Jacob Litt's record breaking Swedish comedy "Von Yonson." The company will be the strongest that Manager Litt has ever had in his pretty play, and will include Gus Heege, who appears in the stellar role, with which he has been so long identified. The scenic effects will all be new and exact reproductions of the picturesque localities in the Northwest where the action of the play occurs. A novel feature of interest will be the introduction of novel specialties of songs and characteristic dances by clever artists, and the selections by the Lumberman's quartet will be a strong feature of typical backwoods melodies sang in the picturesque costumes of the Northwestern lumbermen. This play has attracted widespread attention because of the striking originality of the chief character, an Americanized Swede—a quaint, imperturbable, phlegmatic yet manly fellow—capitally played by Gus Heege. The story tells of the career of a typical Swedish emigrant in the lumber camps of the Northwest, and serves as a good vehicle for the comedy work of Heege, who is a clever comedian with a very mellow Swedish American dialect. He is said to be the originator of this branch of the drama, and he certainly has invaded an unworked field with lucrative possibilities. Von Yonson is a delightful and unique personality. He is uncouth and illiterate but his heart is great and his honesty of purpose and courage can never be called in question. He is ordinarily as solid as one of Mr. Barrie's auld lichts, but his sense of humor is keen and he is strong in sentiment. This simplicity and naturalness of Mr. Heege's impersonation have commended it to every student of the drama and his exquisite drollery has made countless thousands laugh.

ROBERT G. INGERSOLL.

He Will Lecture at the Lyceum Soon on "The Bible."

It will be pleasing intelligence to lecture-goers hereabouts to learn that Robert G. Ingersoll, the foremost living advocate of free thought in religious matters, has been secured, through the C. A. Davis Lyceum bureau, of New York, to deliver his already famous new lecture, "The Bible," at the Lyceum on Sunday, Jan. 13.

"The Bible" is generally accepted as Col. Ingersoll's most notable and masterful platform effort and epitomizes his best thought on the subject treated. He held only a subordinate place. She was funny though, and the laughs rolled up from the audience to her all the while she was on the stage. More laughs turned the fate of the piece for they suggested to one man in the cast that the play was being worked over he proceeded to change its title.

GOSSIP ABOUT SUPERS.

How These Humble But Necessary Stage Adjuncts Are Obtained.

The despised supernumerary occupies a more important position in the economy of the stage than most persons imagine. There are professional supers, just as there are professional actors, and there are good and bad among them, as among the more haughty professionals, who would be insulted by the suggestion of being members of the same glorious profession.

In this city the supplying of extra people, male and female, for important stage productions has grown into a regular business.

EDWARD McCLEARY, TYPICAL SUPER MASTER.

And there are men who make a good deal of money out of it. These chaps are usually characters in their way. Edward McCleary is perhaps the best known among them in the city. At one time he is a perfect type of the genus. He has been engaged in the business for years and has a rich fund of anecdotes of stage celebrities at his command.

McCleary explained to me the details of his method of engaging the people. He keeps a book, in which are entered the names of the men and women whom he has employed at various times, together with brief data as to size, general appearance, etc. When he gets a order for a number of supers, he runs his eye over the list, checking off those whom he considers suitable for the work to be done. These are notified, and the rehearsals are begun. Usually one week in advance. Of course in the case of traveling combinations this is impossible, and one rehearsal is all that can be had. In this fact may be found an explanation of the superior work done by the "extra people" composing the mobs and warriors in productions which are put on for a run.

Sometimes McCleary has orders for more supers than he is able to supply from his regular list. Then he is obliged to advertise. There is no dearth of responses, and at such times, mounted on a box, book in hand, McCleary, whose official title is "super master," proceeds to enroll a number of people apply to him. College students seem to be particularly fond of the work, although they do not usually receive more than a few dollars for their services. Society young men, too, sometimes resort to this method of obtaining a glimpse of the limelight, and the rehearsals are about one consecutive night to disillusion these fellows. But the greatest nuisances of all, according to the super master, are the "extras" who come to the rehearsals. McCleary says that he once had some of these people on in a big production. They expended a great deal of money on their costumes, and he was obliged to have them all done over by his regular people.

There is no case on record up to the present time of a super having become a millionaire from the savings of the salary. The men receive the magnificent stipend of $3.00 a night, and the women get $2.00. The women get twice as much, because they are not so easily found as the males. This discrepancy is in a measure due to the fact that the men are paid 25 cents each, while the women get nothing. Dress rehearsals, as far as supers are concerned, count as regular performances. The super master makes his money by a commission of one night's salary from each of his performers. This frequently amounts to a large sum in the aggregate. It would be next to impossible to keep track of all the costumes, wigs, armor, shoes, etc., in a play in which the supers are obliged to make three or four changes, especially since the super master, being held responsible by the proprietor of the attraction for all of these, is not disposed to take any chances on the honesty of his employees, into whose ranks a black sheep will necessarily creep every now and then. His part by the super master's assistant, who has a list of the articles. In exchange for these he takes the man's street clothes, which are promptly looked up in a box provided for that purpose. After the performance the things returned by the super are checked off carefully. If they are all there, he gets his everyday wearing apparel. A card which is given to him on the first night is also punched. This serves as a memorandum of his attendance when they pay rolls around and also enables him to pass the Cerberus at the stage door on the following night.

Many of the fabled supers really believe that they are destined to become great stars in time, but this idea soon leaves them, and they quickly settle down to the humdrum of their very prosaic existence. McCleary says that the only girl in his employ who stuck to the belief that she would rise to his rank in the employ when he indulged extra people for Mary Anderson at the Star theater. This creature, who was quite petite and particularly pretty, when not on the stage would linger about the wings, intently watching the performance and drinking in every word that was uttered by the actors, instead of sitting in the dressing room gossiping or knitting in the company of her friends. That persistent girl is now a well known actress commanding a salary of $110 a week, of whom the most discreditable thing that may be said is that she is ashamed of having once been a super and will even tell a falsehood when questioned about it point blank.

Among the men who were wont to buy this same girl for her "ridiculous aspirations," "as they considerably expressed it," were some society "goldenboys" who were put on in dress suits in the same production. McCleary says that among the piles of flowers that were sent to the stage were numbers to these actors of the Four Hundred, who had purchased them for themselves.

Among McCleary's supers in a sporting melodrama which had a long run in this city was a fellow who had seen better days. He was a veterinarian, with a diploma from an English college. It was found necessary to let one of the men say, "Who was that last race?" This line was given to the horse doctor, who used to roll it out each night with stentorian emphasis. "Doc, as he was known, had up to that time been a great favorite with the boys. But now that he had a line to speak, he held them at bay, and was often seen jumping mediocrity to and fro at the rear of the stage. Then his associates revenged themselves by writing on the wall of the dressing room, "The doctor is no longer a super. He is an actor." Even this did not disturb the veterinarian's equanimity.

The club will line up substantially as follows, although some changes may be made in the Y. M. C. A. team. The Duluth club is not much given to change, as this is their third year without changing either men or positions.

The Duluth club, of course, intends to retain the state championship this year, and there will be some tall playing for it. The Henricks, of St. Paul, are the most formidable antagonists the Duluth club may expect, and they are playing a pretty good polo down in the Twin Cities.

They are engaged in a contest for the championship of the Twin City neighborhood, and so far they seem to be getting along immensely, and they are making strides that bid fair to land them squarely in the championship game. The Y. M. C. A. team was played with the Minneapolis team which resulted in a tie for the Henricks 2 to 0. Tuesday they met a team of regulars from Fort Snelling and defeated them 1 to 0. The next game in the contest is between the St. Paul and Minneapolis teams. They are fifteen games in the series, and from all appearances the Henricks are in a fair way to win the interurban championship.

The Zenith Prison Club is also working into polo. They have sent for implements, and in a short time they will be prepared to play their class of teams. The team is composed of good skaters and strong players, and they will put up a lively game.

The Zenith club defeated the Superior team at a game of prison goal Tuesday afternoon in Duluth by a score of 4 to 0. Having defeated them twice out of three times and playing a tie game in the third, the Zenith club now claims the championship, and is prepared to defend the title against all comers.

A good game of basketball was played at the New Year's game between the Y. M. C. A. team under H. D. Bellew and a high school team under Walter Murphy. The Y. M. C. A. boys were too much for the scholars, and the score was 21 to 3 in favor of the former.

This has been a good week in curling and the three ices at Glen Alvon have been kept pretty busy every day. Tuesday was the great day, and from early morning until late at night the rafters of the building quaked with the interest exhibited in the roaring game. Notwithstanding the fact that many who have never enjoyed the luxury of an active participation in a good curling match look upon the game as somewhat slow, there is no other game which arouses quite so much enthusiasm among its devotees, and many who have joined the curling club this winter have realized that fact.

The games Thursday were attended by six Superior players. There were not enough of them to form rinks, so they took in two Duluth men and formed two rinks, each of which was victorious over the Duluth rinks opposed to them.

The game between the C. B. Woodruff and C. W. Culver rinks in the morning resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 11 to 9. In the afternoon the following games were played: W. N. Anderson, 10, against James Hunter, 9; Robert Smith, 12, against W. L. Dunlop, 8; C. Henneke, 12, against Ron Smith, 13.

A number of ladies were in attendance, and the interval between the afternoon and evening games was pleasantly

IN SPORTING CIRCLES.

Polo Coming to the Front Again and Several Games Are to be Played Here.

Some Excellent Curling Matches at the Rink This Week and More Are in Prospect.

Handicapped Men in the Painting Contest Think the Odds Are Too Heavy Against Them.

Polo is the newest thing in the local field of sports, and this winter substitute for football is living up to an extent that promises a good deal of sport shortly. The North Stars, who are to be known as the Y. M. C. A. team hereafter, have organized and with strong confidence in themselves as a club and as individual players they are about to tackle the polo of the Duluth club, the state champions.

The first game will come off next Monday night at the Endon rink. It has been some time since the Duluth club had a real game, and they return to the sport with the zest of men to whom a long lay off has increased ability and desire for work. Their team work is said to be in advance of anything they have exhibited before, which is saying more than might seem.

The Y. M. C. A. team is composed of strong and able players and skaters, and they start in the polo season with a laudable ambition that may carry them far. A good team, it is certain, whoever may win, and the event will be watched with much interest, for not only will it show what sort of stuff the Y. M. C. A. team is made of, but it will show the development which has been made by the Duluth club in team work since they won the state championship last winter.

The clubs will line up substantially as follows, although some changes may be made in the Y. M. C. A. team. The Duluth club is not much given to change, as this is their third year without changing either men or positions.

The Duluth club, of course, intends to retain the state championship this year, and there will be some tall playing for it. The Henricks, of St. Paul, are the most formidable antagonists the Duluth club may expect, and they are playing a pretty good polo down in the Twin Cities.

They are engaged in a contest for the championship of the Twin City neighborhood, and so far they seem to be getting along immensely, and they are making strides that bid fair to land them squarely in the championship game. The Y. M. C. A. team was played with the Minneapolis team which resulted in a tie for the Henricks 2 to 0. Tuesday they met a team of regulars from Fort Snelling and defeated them 1 to 0. The next game in the contest is between the St. Paul and Minneapolis teams. They are fifteen games in the series, and from all appearances the Henricks are in a fair way to win the interurban championship.

The Zenith Prison Club is also working into polo. They have sent for implements, and in a short time they will be prepared to play their class of teams. The team is composed of good skaters and strong players, and they will put up a lively game.

The Zenith club defeated the Superior team at a game of prison goal Tuesday afternoon in Duluth by a score of 4 to 0. Having defeated them twice out of three times and playing a tie game in the third, the Zenith club now claims the championship, and is prepared to defend the title against all comers.

A good game of basketball was played at the New Year's game between the Y. M. C. A. team under H. D. Bellew and a high school team under Walter Murphy. The Y. M. C. A. boys were too much for the scholars, and the score was 21 to 3 in favor of the former.

This has been a good week in curling and the three ices at Glen Alvon have been kept pretty busy every day. Tuesday was the great day, and from early morning until late at night the rafters of the building quaked with the interest exhibited in the roaring game. Notwithstanding the fact that many who have never enjoyed the luxury of an active participation in a good curling match look upon the game as somewhat slow, there is no other game which arouses quite so much enthusiasm among its devotees, and many who have joined the curling club this winter have realized that fact.

The games Thursday were attended by six Superior players. There were not enough of them to form rinks, so they took in two Duluth men and formed two rinks, each of which was victorious over the Duluth rinks opposed to them.

The game between the C. B. Woodruff and C. W. Culver rinks in the morning resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 11 to 9. In the afternoon the following games were played: W. N. Anderson, 10, against James Hunter, 9; Robert Smith, 12, against W. L. Dunlop, 8; C. Henneke, 12, against Ron Smith, 13.

A number of ladies were in attendance, and the interval between the afternoon and evening games was pleasantly

SHOWS UP FINELY.

Explorations at Francis Omeis' Slate Quarry
Are Satisfactory.

Explorations in the Carlton county slate quarry of Francis Omeis, of this city, have progressed so far that a shaft of eighty feet depth has been sunk and the workmen are now drifting sidwally.

On its face the vein has a showing of 200 feet depth with a stratified slope cast-ward. The slate which is being uncovered is of very fine quality with a remarkable smooth cleavage and it burdens on exposure to the outer air. The slate is particularly well adapted for use in roofing, tiling, flooring, sidewalks and for blackboards and is apparently of unlimited extent.

Mr. Omeis has outfitted his quarry with an ingenious Sergeant drill and an improved bar channeller, steam hoists and a lot of other machinery. The nearest slate quarries and in fact the only ones of real importance are in Maine and Pennsylvania, and when the qualities of Mr. Omeis' quarry become known they will probably be an important addition to the industries of this section. A number of foreign slate workers are employed in developing the property.

HAS A CANAL SCHEME.

Project for Building a Canal to the Sea.

Wants a Charter from Congress Giving the Right to Construct It as a Private Enterprise.

the Court House by the Retiring County Officers.

Chauncey N. Dutton, of New York, arrived in the city today to forward the interests of a canal scheme—not one in opposition to the Minnesota or Altamonte projects, but for a canal to the sea. Mr. Dutton wants to interest three or four Duluthians in his project. His object is to build a private canal to the sea.

The route he favors is not an entirely new one. He proposes to build a canal from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario, around Niagara Falls. This he figures would cost from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 and would be about eight miles long. Then his route continues down Lake Erie and the St. Lawrence river to Cornwall, a little side of the Montreal. One lock would be required in the St. Lawrence river and this would carry the route over the divide. From Cornwall he proposes to cut across to Lake Champlain, down the lake into the Hudson river and thence to New York. The most expensive portion of the work would be in getting through Lake Champlain to the Hudson and down the river.

A SHOCKING MURDER.

Horrible Tragedy Committed in Chinatown in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Mott street, in Chinatown, was the scene yesterday of a shocking murder. The victim Bridget Gorman was burned to death. The murderer, named Lizzie Brown and known to the police as "Liz, the man," and one of the most notorious characters in that section, used a lighted kerosene lamp for a weapon.

During a quarrel she threw the lamp at her victim. It broke, the flaming oil set fire to her clothing and in an instant the unfortunate woman was in a mass of flames. Apparently not a bit moved by her dreadful work, the murderer stood for several moments watching her victim writhe in agony, then she fled and was captured later by the police. The victim was burned beyond recognition before assistance reached her and died within ten minutes.

Against the Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The supreme court has filed its decision in the six cases involving the Central Pacific railroad taxes for 1887, and the decision was against the railroad companies. Superior Judge Hubbard's declaration that the railroad assessments for 1887 were valid was sustained. His award of fees to Langhorn & Miller, who began and pressed the litigation, was affirmed, but the fees which he granted to Aylett H. Cotten were stricken out.

The Idaho Senators.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 7.—Although the legislators are nearly all in the city it is impossible as yet to form any idea of relative strength of Senator Shoup and Judge Sweet in the senatorial contest. Friends of each are confident. The Populist members, fifteen in number, will probably cast their votes for Col. Crook, their candidate for governor two years ago.

The Grip in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The grip is once more giving New York doctors insomnia. Dr. John H. Girdner last night, who has made a study of the grip, said: "Yes it is certainly back again, as many of my patients can testify, but it is not nearly so serious as it was the first year it came. Doctors have decided that it is caused by a germ but the germ is not yet identified."

Fire in Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 7.—The Globe office was burned at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, with a loss of $92,000 on building and $60,000 on the plant. Webb's restaurant was destroyed, with a loss of $70,000, and M. Kinnon's new wholesale dry goods store was wiped out, causing a loss of $170,000. Chief Ardagh and several firemen were injured.

Senienced to Hang.

FREEPORT, Ill., Jan. 7.—Three months ago August Altmeier was stoned to death by a gang of local toughs, seven of whom were arrested on a charge of murder. The trial ended today. The jury acquitted five and found Tom Beverly and Otto Herbig guilty of murder. Beverly was sentenced to hang and Herbig given eighteen years in the penitentiary.

Robbed and Murdered.

DENVER, Jan. 7.—A man who was run over and cut to pieces by a Kansas Pacific train Saturday night has been identified as John R. Eldridge, a water inspector. He is said to have a brother in Chicago who is a millionaire. As he must have been lying flat on the tracks when run over, it is thought he had been robbed and murdered.

A NELSON DEAL.

Three of the Duluth Delegation Agree to Vote For Nelson in Return For Offices.

They Are to Name a Surveyor General the Oil Inspector and Get Other Plums.

Report That Ex-Governor Burke and O. D. Kinney Will Receive Complimentary Votes in the Caucus.

O. B. Gould, of Winona, Appointed Judge by Governor Nelson Today to Succeed Judge Start.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 7.—The Globe this morning in its senatorial review says: "During the day the Nelson men showed such a sudden and marked improvement in spirits that it was evident to a close observer that something had happened. Everybody who was approached gave it out that there was nothing new in the situation; that the day had been given up to the boys to fix up the legislative caucus, and that the managers of the senatorial campaign did not want to get in their way. This was a good story in its way, and for purposes of tact to the marines was all right, but the old soldiers did not take it worth a cent and it was not long before they had scented out and run down the game."

And pretty good game it was, too. It was nothing more nor less than a deal by which Duluth is to receive a surveyor general of logs and lumber, to which will add to the political following of the parties who have a vote on senator. It is not expected that this deal is to take effect at once, or even on the first ballot, or that the members are to vote for Nelson at the start, but it is certain that they are to steer clear up to the last stages of the game. It is generally understood that one of the four members of the delegation declines to become a party to the bargain, but the three votes are not to be succeeded at, at this stage of the game.

There is no doubt that the deal has been accomplished, at least so far as majority of the delegation is concerned, and that the goods will be delivered on both sides (it is equally certain, the deal is made under the deal cannot, of course, be secured; indeed it is doubtful if they have yet been agreed upon).

One of the best kept secrets of the last night that this deal had been attempted immediately after the election, but at that time nothing could be done, as the members were more interested in mineral land legislation and kindred matters than in the senatorial fight, however they found the deal.

The members were so mentioned, it is therefore probable that the attitude of the Duluth delegation on the senatorial matter will have a considerable influence upon legislation affecting the mineral and railroad interests of the Zenith City.

Among other rumors it was stated that ex-Governor Burke, of North Dakota, at present of Duluth, would receive some complimentary votes for senator until the test came and the rally was made to Nelson. O. D. Kinney is also mentioned as one who may be offered the compliment. Whoever may be voted for, however, cuts but little figure, for as long as the Duluth delegation stays away from Washburn the consideration is certain.

The various state officers filed their bonds and were sworn in before the legislature. The vote will be taken on the Duluth delegation's stay away from Washburn the consideration is certain.

THE DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

Sensational Charges Against Judge Ricks Made in a Memorial.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Charges of a sensational character against United States District Judge Augustus Ricks, of Cleveland, are contained in a memorial presented to the house today. Representative Johnson, of Ohio, secured immediate consideration for a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to investigate the charges and without debate the resolution was adopted.

The charges are made under oath by R. J. Ritchie, of Akron, Ohio, a wealthy capitalist of that section. While directed mainly at Judge Ricks they indirectly affect Judge Burke and ex-United States Senator Payne, of Cleveland.

Mr. Ritchie gives the names of a formidable array of counsel in Washington, Cleveland and Akron who have been retained in his behalf. These include Messrs. Hemphill, Shellaharger and Wilson & Butterworth, of Washington; Keruch & Co., of Cleveland, and Judge Upson and Messrs. Green, Grant & Lieber, of Akron. The charges involve losses reaching $6,000,000. Mr. Ritchie claims to have suffered in decisions made by Judge Ricks affecting Canadian copper and nickel mines.

Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, announced the death of Gen. Post, and after passing resolutions of regret the house adjourned.

FLOODS FEARED

A Stage of Seventeen Feet in the Monongahela River and the Water Rising Rapidly.

Ice Also Coming Down the Allegheny and Harris Island Coffin Dam in Serious Danger.

Indications at Blair, O., That the Great Flood of Eleven Years Ago Will Be Repeated.

Disastrous Floods in Southern Indiana and the Farmers Are Suffering Severely From the Overflows.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—There is a probability of a flood at this point if the rivers continue to rise for any length of time at the present rate. There is a stage of seventeen feet in the Monongahela and it is rising at the rate of sixteen inches per hour. A large amount of ice is coming out of the Youghiogheny and at McKeesport the little steamer Tillie was sunk, causing a loss of about $200. The ice is also coming down the Allegheny and the coffin dam at Harris island is in danger of serious damage.

The government is building a navigation lock at this point, and should the coffin dam be broken it will not only retard the work on the lock. A 25-foot stage in the Ohio river is expected here and river men fear that it will reach thirty feet. Twenty-five feet will flood the mills along the river and cause damage to property. Thirty feet is considered the danger line. It has been raining all night and is still raining.

At Morgantown there was eighteen inches or more when the rain started Saturday night and it has rained steadily ever since. Several timber rafts have gone down and a big boom is reported at Gratton. A 25 to 30-foot stage is expected at Morgantown.

The ice in the Clarion river broke at 7 a. m. and began pouring into the Allegheny. At points between Pittsburgh and the mouth of the Clarion the ice is only broken in places.

At Oil City the river is still frozen, and beyond there the ice remains firm, although a break is expected at any time.

Danger at Blair.

BLAIR, Ohio, Jan. 7.—The indications today are that the great flood of 1884 will be repeated. The river is rising rapidly in consequence of incessant rain for the past thirty-six hours. The ice in the Ohio river and its tributaries broke up and ran out last night. Several barges were jammed and blocked. Two bridges on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railway were washed away. Trains could not be run today and traffic on the road was completely blocked. Steamers at their moorings here were not damaged. All the snow has melted and is gone. The low lands will be flooded by tomorrow morning. The people are moving to higher grounds.

Floods in Southern Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—Advices from Southern Indiana to the News tell of disastrous floods, resulting from the heavy rains of the past forty-eight hours. The farmers are suffering severely from the overflows and more serious losses still are anticipated.

At Bedford, Ind., on the Monon road, the bridge across the river has been washed away, and the trains are running via North Vernon. At Vienna, on the main line of the Jeffersonville, Madison & Indianapolis railroad, 300 feet of track has been washed away and traffic is seriously delayed from both north and south.

For Sellers' Relief.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The senate committee on public lands today favorably reported the bill recommended by Secretary Smon for the relief of homestead settlers on timber lands in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan who suffered loss by reason of the severe forest fires of the past autumn. The bill has already passed the house.

Fled the Country.

GALLUP, N. M., Jan. 7.—William Bowers, town marshal, has not been murdered, as was feared, but has fled the country. A shortage in his accounts has been discovered and it is alleged the military authorities were about to take him for deserting the army.

Foul Play Feared.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 7.—Peter Breen, district master workman of the Knights of Labor, who went to New Orleans in November to attend the Knights of Labor convention, has not been heard from since his arrival in New Orleans, and his friends in Butte feel certain that he has met with foul play.

Makes a Counter Charge.

DENVER, Jan. 7.—Victor Monchanin, accused by Alphonse Charles Lemaire, of being the Market street strangler, has made a counter statement accusing Lemaire of being the murderer of Lena Tapper, Marie Contassiot and Kiku Oyama. He says that he himself is innocent.

Fatal Accident.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 7.—G. M. Acree, a wealthy planter of Benoit, Miss., accidentally shot and killed himself in this city today while cleaning his pistol.

Gen. Phil Post Dead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Gen. Philip Sidney Post, member of congress from the Tenth district of Illinois, died at the Hamilton hotel in this city yesterday after an illness of but one day. His death was from heart failure resulting from acute gastritis.

A Star Number.
San Francisco Daily Report: One of the brightest and breeziest special issues of the year is that of The Duluth Evening Herald under date of December 17th. This star number contains forty pages of substantial reading and is a credit to Duluth and The Herald. It mirrors the advantages of Duluth as a place of investment and in an earnest and able manner discusses the past, present and future of the city. There is no attempt to boom Duluth real estate, there is no attempt to deal in glittering generalities, but on the contrary The Herald has apparently hewn to the line.
The territory strictly tributary to Duluth is described in great detail, the commercial value of that territory is indicated by facts and figures, and, incidentally, Jay Cooke's old saying is quoted: "By the lakes it is no farther from Duluth to Buffalo than from Chicago; yet from Duluth to Buffalo is 600 miles less than from San Francisco to Chicago. From Japan to the sound is 800 miles less than from Japan to San Francisco, so in Asiatic traffic there is a saving of 1400 miles."
The miscellaneous features of The Herald are admirable and altogether it is a worthy production of the fourth estate.

The Weather.
Chicago, Jan. 7.—Forecast: Till 9 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair and severe cold wave tonight and Tuesday; several days of low temperature; northwest winds. For Minnesota: Fair and severe cold wave with temperature falling to 20 degrees below zero tonight; Tuesday fair with colder in east portion; northwest winds.

Legislative Reports.
The Minnesota legislature will open tomorrow. It will be a session of unusual interest, as many important matters are to come before it, chief among them being the election of a United States senator to succeed Mr. Washburn.
Special arrangements have been made by The Herald to furnish its readers with the most complete reports that will be published at the head of Lake Superior. Having a direct wire between The Herald office and St. Paul, it is possible to give all the legislative news and gossip promptly on the day of occurrence and up to a late hour, so that it may be safely said that The Herald's legislative reports will be unsurpassed.
If you want to keep posted and be in line promptly on each day's happenings, take The Herald regularly.

The Outlook.
In taking a glance at the financial year and the outlook, the January Forum admits the impossibility of forecasting the future. Trade, it says, regulates itself. What we need at the present is not speculation on the future of commerce, so much as determination to look our problems squarely in the face as they arise, and to maintain our credit at all hazards. The condition of the United States treasury two months ago was enough to make the patriotic American blush. We need reform of course—and the prospect now seems brighter—but we need also a set of congressmen who would appreciate the argument that the United States, strong as it is, requires proper legislation before it becomes practically available. We should never forget that sentiment and fact are so intertwined in the fabric of public and mercantile credit as to make the drawing of a dividing line impossible. If we would have full confidence, both elements must be considered.
While the depression of 1894, following the panic of 1893, has proved a bitter experience for the commercial interests of the United States, nothing but our own folly need lead us to distrust the future. The problems before us, says the Forum, are not to be lightly regarded. They demand careful economic thought and good financial judgment. Nor need we expect at once a revival of the volume of trade and prosperity of former years. Above all we must as a people forever abandon the delusion that nature's generosity to us and our own supposed superiority have placed us above the financial and commercial laws which govern the rest of the civilized world.

Henry Clews in his financial review for the past week declares that the immediate outlook in commercial and manufacturing circles is as promising as could be expected at this season of the year and under existing circumstances; for, with the exception of some sections of the West and Northwest, the prospect for 1895 is decidedly more favorable, and indicates a business of larger proportions than existed in the year just passed. No better barometer of the trade conditions can be produced than the iron industry, and this is in far more satisfactory shape as regards the future than was the case a year ago. The stock of manufactured goods of all classes throughout the country is at a very low ebb. Consumption is going on all the while, and the time must soon come when fresh stocks will have to be taken on, and it is not very far away either, as is proven by the increased desire on the part of spinners to buy raw material. Every small depreciation in value is being taken advantage of by them to replenish supplies, and this is certainly a gratifying feature after the hand-to-mouth policy which has existed for so long a period.

Election of a Senator.
Many people are asking when the legislature must vote on United States senator. Two weeks from tomorrow, which will be the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization of the legislature, the initial proceedings will be had in the election of a United States senator to succeed Mr. Washburn. On that day the two houses will act separately, the members voting viva voce. If no one has a majority in each house, both branches of the legislature will thereafter assemble in joint session at noon of the succeeding day and vote at least once. If there is no election they will repeat this proceeding every day, except Sunday, until some one is elected.
There are fifty-four members of the senate and 114 of the house, or 168 members of the legislature in joint session, so that it will be necessary for some candidate to secure eighty-five votes before he can be elected. The Republicans number 142 so that if the question should be decided by a caucus nomination seventy-two votes would be required to nominate.

A more terrible tale has never been offered in fiction than that which was recently told in Boston of life—and death! A woman, having taken poison, pleaded, when saved from the death she sought, to know if she would be punished by this world in the other. Roused from the morphia, she believed herself dead, and feared still what she had feared in life—the police. The incident is a more piercing commentary upon sin and suffering than a large volume of sermons with carefully chosen texts.

The Boston Herald proposes to acquire Newfoundland by purchase, in Alaska fashion. It may be presumed that Boston capitalists have had the vast lumber districts of the desolate island thoroughly surveyed. Hence the thunders of the proposition.

New York's municipal budget will be nearly $2,500,000 higher this year than in 1894. Tammany will point to this with roars of exultation, but the real fact is that it was Tammany's legislation last year which passed measures calling for the increase.

A paragraph is going the rounds of the press to the effect that the Buckeye Glass works (idle for two years), located at Martin's Ferry, Ohio, will start up immediately. The factory is one of the largest of its kind in the United States.
In the temperance state of Maine last year, out of 6176 convictions in the courts, 2368 were for drunkenness. Out of 2116 arrests in Portland, 1295 were for the same offense. And yet some people claim that prohibition does prohibit.

Mr. Coff's term as recorder of New York is fourteen years, and his salary is $17,500. Mr. Coff was not in the investigating business for his health.

Kansas, a Prohibition state, will introduce a compulsory Keeley cure to its next legislature. What an anomaly.

The government mints coined 250,000 silver dollars last year and will soon cease coining them altogether.

The loss of the Florida orange crop is now estimated at $10,000,000.

No "Dangerous Surplus."
Milford Journal: It is estimated at Washington that the deficit in the treasury will be from $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 this month. Isn't there something grand and sublime about it?

A "Pure" Campaign.
St. Paul Call: All sides are now claiming that the campaign is to be entirely "pure." This will be a novelty in Minnesota politics worthy of preservation in the Historical society, and makes the result doubly doubtful. The one thing which does seem morally certain is the defeat of Washburn, if necessity rather than inclination compels a "pure" campaign.

Looking for a "Dark Horse."
St. Paul Globe: There are many who hold the belief that neither Washburn nor Nelson can be elected, and declare that another Richmond will appear in the field and pluck the coveted honor. As to the identity of this sable steed there is a wide divergence of opinion. Charles A. Pillsbury, William K. Merriam, R. C. Evans, Moses E. Clapp, O. D. Kieney and numerous others are suggested and in turn discarded for various reasons.

The First Snow Storm.
Heigh-ho! The first snow storm! The night has transformed all the earth to white. The pond is frozen stiff and the joyous children below:
Joy breathe below:
This is the school boy's true delight—
Heigh-ho! Heigh-ho!
Heigh-ho! With pleasure-beaming eyes,
Off to the hill the children hie;
Then on the rounded benches lie,
As down they go—
O who would pass old winter by?
Heigh-ho! Heigh-ho!
—Henry Reed Conant.

A Chunk of Philosophy.
Lowell Star: It is better to turn over a few new leaves and keep them turned over, than to twist a lot of them and let them fly back again.

Oh! Well, But—
Chicago Dispatch: Boston pays her alderman $1500 a year. It is too much. Chicago aldermen get a salary of $3 a week and manage to lay up $25,000 a year.

A Breach in Hennepin.
Minneapolis Penny Press: The combined influences of Twin City labor organizations appear to be one of the most serious things Senator Washburn must contend with in his contest for re-election. There are members of the Hennepin delegation whose constituencies are such that they feel themselves politically unable to afford offense to the united votes of laboring men protesting against Washburn's re-election. There is already a breach in the solidarity of the Hennepin membership for Washburn, and any further ploughing off might be succeeded by a general scamp to cover.

Mr. Baldwin Denies.
To the Editor of The Herald:
Permit me space to deny a false statement in your issue of Saturday wherein you say that I gave as a reason why I am a staunch Republican should not be elected to an office that "he supported Mr. Kinney." I never made such a statement. I have always maintained, and many good Republicans will bear out the statement, that any man who honestly supported Mr. Kinney is as good a Republican as any man who supported Mr. Towne and ended to the same consideration at the hands of Hardly need mentioning. As the news spreads, each succeeding day's sales become greater.

THE PULLMAN STRIKE

Eugene V. Debs, of the American Railway Union, Addressed a Large Audience at the Temple Last Evening.

He Discussed the Great Strike of Last Summer and the Part He Took in It.

Chicago Press Was Given a Roasting and the Judiciary Also Came in for a Scolding.

Owing to his inability to finish his Minneapolis speech Saturday night and make train connections, Eugene V. Debs, president of the A. R. U., did not spend yesterday in Duluth but he reached the city on the evening train and addressed a packed house at the Temple. A large company, chiefly members of organized labor, met the famous strike leader and union labor advocate at the depot. He was escorted to the St. Louis hotel and commenced a two hours' address near 8:15 o'clock.

By 7 o'clock a crowd had gathered before the doors of the Temple. When the doors were opened, there was a rush that several policemen had difficulty in controlling. The crowd was a good-natured one, but every man and woman seemed to fear that it might be impossible to get inside the doors and as such was there especially for that purpose, no time or muscle was lost in carrying it out.

It was a magnificent, enthusiastic, appreciative audience. For over two hours Mr. Debs was listened to with the closest attention. At times, frequent ones, too, he was interrupted with the wildest applause. The platform was filled with friends and members of labor unions. The people were packed in the body of the house like sardines in a box, the aisles being filled with chairs. The balcony was filled and the gallery was well occupied. Among those on the stage were: Judge McGintley, Professor Rudolph, Judge Martin, J. W. Nichols, G. H. Austin, Capt. Smallwood, Capt. Hubbard, J. H. Baker, George O'Neill, John Boyer, W. D. Gordon and J. A. Brady, guests of the labor unions; James McDowell, chairman of the meeting; C. M. Thomas, Thomas Savard, R. E. Cobb, D. D. Maginnis, Thomas Marks, Thomas Hancock, A. McCallum, M. M. Flatley, E. W. Glass, Frank Shoening, Gus Winberg, Julius Dworschak, Henry Burwell, James Best and Charles Leytze.

James McDowell's Introduction.
By virtue of his chairmanship of the Federated Trades assembly's lecture committee, James McDowell presided. He introduced Mr. Debs in the following language:

"Ladies and gentlemen: This is the first of a series of lectures to be given under the auspices of the Federated Trades assembly of Duluth, and while it is very gratifying to that body to see such a large audience here this evening, it must be considerably more so to the gentleman who is to deliver the lecture. The history of the Pullman strike and the subsequent action of the American Railway Union in connection with the strike, and the recent trial and conviction of the prominent officers of that organization, are fresh in the minds of every individual here this evening. And while it is a fact that the press is also almost unanimous in condemning the methods adopted by the A. R. U. to bring the matters in dispute to arbitration, it is also a fact that the press is also almost unanimous in the opinion that Debs and his associates should have been accorded a trial by jury."

"With the exception of Lord Pullman, Eugene V. Debs has been the worst abused man in the United States, but, like the followers of Grover Cleveland, organized labor loves him for the enemies he has made. In a large assembly like this there may be and doubtless are differences of opinion as to the action of the A. R. U., but there can only be one opinion as to the spirit which prompted the action, viz., to alleviate the sufferings of starving families at Pullman."

"The divine injunction is that 'A man shall lay down his life for his friend,' and while Debs and his comrades have not gone as far as that, they have sacrificed their freedom on the altar of the golden rule. 'Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you.' Without further preface, ladies and gentlemen, allow me to introduce to you the Lincoln of the masses, Eugene V. Debs."

Mr. Debs' Appearance.
Mr. Debs is a tall, well-made man, as straight as an arrow and with an air of determination, firmness and self-control both pronounced and unusual. His eye is deep set, his mouth shuts like a steel trap and his long chin and nose simply add proof to the exterior evidences of the nature of the man. The top of his head is almost innocent of hair and the forehead somewhat receding. The back of the head has a development that adds further proof of a determined, fearless combatant.

While the address was composed chiefly of his side of the causes, reasons and history of the Pullman and A. R. U. strikes, it was replete with terse, vigorous and impressive aphorisms.

"Many believe that this strike was not only a calamity, but wholly wrong," said the speaker. "I am against strikes as a general proposition, but when they become necessary I believe in striking with all the force at my command. We live under a striking government, anyway. There is not a star and stripe in the old flag that was not born of a strike. If it were not for the courage and patriotism of our striking forefathers we would be British subjects today."

"Every labor organization on the American continent was born of tyranny and oppression. There never would have been one if employers had always been fair and no one would ever have had to face the calamity of a strike. Many employers, especially corporations, are no longer in touch with their employees. They consider them chattels in too many instances. Today there are, practically, only fifteen large railway systems in the United States. They are united to that extent and the process is still going on. Today, so far as employees are concerned, there is only one railway system."

Mr. Debs then went on to show that the General Managers' association was formed before the A. R. U. and after stating the reasons for the formation of the first named said: "Is there any conspiracy in that? I am going to jail next Tuesday for conspiracy. If I am guilty then I ought to be accompanied by some general manager. The difference between the General Managers' association and the A. R. U. is $100,000. It is the difference between a general manager and a section man. The A. R. U. simply followed the example of the general managers. If one is guilty of conspiracy, then the other is. Some say all men are equal before the law, but long since the judicial nets have been set so as to catch the minnows and let whales slip through."

Destitution at Pullman.
The speaker then proceeded to narrate cases of destitution and oppression that came under his personal observation at Pullman or under that of creditable witnesses. "A child at Pullman," said he, "is born in a Pullman town and in a Pullman house, rocked in a Pullman cradle, educated in a Pullman school, married in a Pullman church and, at last, is dressed in a Pullman shroud, placed in a Pullman coffin, carried in a Pullman hearse and buried in a Pullman cemetery. That is the story of a human life at Pullman."

"At Pullman I saw more rags fluttering in the breeze than I ever saw in all my life. One man after paying all his dues and debts to the Pullman company had a check for 2 cents coming to him. I suppose he will keep that as a souvenir of George M. Pullman's philanthropy."

"Pullman recently made a donation of $100,000 to a Chicago institution. The newspapers gave him great praise. I don't think anyone is entitled to credit for spending other people's money. If fair wages are paid there is no need for philanthropy—every man can take care of himself."

Mr. Debs discussed the Pullman company quite extensively, narrated some almost incredible and heart-rending facts and labeled as false any claim that the company has taken any contracts at a loss. "Every dollar, too," said he, "finds its way back to the Pullman coffers after being paid out. Why not leave? There is no escape save by the back door of suicide. The Pullman system was founded for cutting those out of the company's competitors that paid their employees living wages."

The company before the strike refused arbitration and said no one should interfere with its business. The Pullman company would not arbitrate because it did not want the United States to know the conditions there. The employees were willing to trust the people of the United States—the Pullman company was not.

"When the committee called on Pullman the day before the strike he said: 'I'll investigate this matter.' The next morning the grievance committee was discharged. The men laid down their tools and I admire them for it. I consider it not only justifiable, but a solemn patriotic duty. The employees said that they might as well starve striking as to starve working—so they struck. For five weeks, there was no work. The strikers even guarded the property of the company. Cleveland's strike commission gave them great praise."

The A. R. U.'s Efforts.
The delegate convention of the A. R. U. and its efforts to bring about an adjustment was touched upon. The Pullman employees were members of the A. R. U. The company said that the men could come back to work on its own terms or not at all. Notice was given that if the matter was not settled within five days, members of the A. R. U. would refuse to handle Pullman cars. "No man," exclaimed Mr. Debs, "could have come away from Pullman without being a striker. The A. R. U. members put their situations, families, their very lives in the cause to help the victims of greedy corporations in response to the golden rule. If a sympathy strike is a wrong, a myth, then we have no right to help our fellowmen. Is sympathy a crime? A Hugo, a Dante or a Milton could not do justice to the state of affairs at Pullman. No pen however graphic could do it justice."

"I had no voice in the strike, I simply presided over the meetings of the A. R. U. On account of that I have been maligned and have lost the respect of thousands, but I have kept my own respect. When the truth is known, the reward and vindication will come. In the meanwhile I can be patient behind prison bars."

"My old mother is nearly 70 years of age. Just before I came up here she said to me: 'Go to jail like a man.' When I last left her she said: 'It is hard to see you leave home to go to jail, but I would rather see you go than to see you a coward and an apostate.' I say that I would rather be a free man in jail than a slave in the sunlight."

The good citizenship of the members of the A. R. U. was praised and the assertion made that were the country's flag in danger, none would defend it so promptly as the A. R. U. boys. "Can George M. Pullman say as much?" exclaimed Mr. Debs.

The speaker said that the general managers, after five days of the strike, were defeated, and that the A. R. U. would have won had it not been for the introduction of United States troops in the interests of the railroads.

"No A. R. U. men or their sympathizers fired cars. I charge and will prove in due time that the managers, inspired the violence and confiscation."

He gave several proofs of cases where in the Chicago police had arrested men for cutting hose or firing cars, only to find that they were deputy United States marshals' badges.

Chicago Press Roasted.
The Chicago press was roundly roasted for its unfairness. "As a general proposition," said Mr. Debs, "the metropolitan press is for sale to the highest bidder. If in the next world, the Chicago press be held to accountability, Oh, Lord! Six months in the county jail will be a benediction."

"I have been charged by the press with every crime except selling out to a corporation. Had I done that, I could be whistled at the world calls respectable. I choose to stand by my convictions. I have no regrets, no apologies. In the words of Andrew Jackson, by the eternal power, I take, the consequences of my act."

The metropolitan reporters were complimented as highly as the Chicago press was roasted severely. One reporter on the Chicago Tribune was discharged because he refused to misrepresent Debs in his writings and another on the later-Ocean was called to account because he had not written anything about Debs for two days.

The charges of insanity and of being an ex-prison bird were touched upon, branded as false and then the speaker said: "I do not claim to be a saint, but I do claim to be an honest man and challenge any one to prove the contrary. I am not, either, a respecter of public opinion. Public opinion was responsible for 1000 years of human slavery. Public opinion was against William Lloyd Garrison and dragged William Lloyd Garrison through the streets of Boston. Public opinion threatened Harriet Martineau with hanging if she spoke in Ohio against slavery. Public opinion hung John Brown. Public opinion is not reliable. It is often manufactured by a vicious press. People mistake by reading only one side. The only way is to read both sides and then judge."

As to the Injunction.
The injunctions were spoken of. "I was forbidden by an injunction to advise my fellowman. I disregard that injunction and have been held guilty of contempt of court. Who would not be guilty of contempt of so contemptible an injunction. Just now, this is largely a government by injunction. Injunctions seem to be only for the corporations' benefit. I have got more injunctions than a mogul engine can draw and I hold the judges who issued them in sovereign and absolute contempt. Those injunctions were infamous. When I went to see Judge Trumbull about an appeal he said: 'No use, Debs. The courts of this country are in the grasp of the money power.' If a laborer made such a remark he would be called an anarchist. If the power of the injunction is absolute in this country, let us abolish all law. There is no need for it. No president can yet erect a military despotism on the ruins of a free republic. That is shown by the manner in which Grover Cleveland was rebuked last November. I want to see the time when justice will prevail. I believe it will come. There never was a time when laboring men were thinking as now. They will take their rights, lawfully, by the ballot."

Must Solve It Individually.
An eloquent tribute was then paid to labor. "You cannot solve the labor problem by proxy. You have got to solve it yourself. When the American home falls, the republic falls. But the republic is not going to fall. No man ever went to the penitentiary who spent his leisure at home. The home ennobles, elevates and dignifies the manhood of our human race. If every man had a good home, it would be a short time only until the shadow of the gallows ceased to hang over the land."

"If anything needs civilizing," said Mr. Debs, "it is our civilization." He then asserted that the cause of labor had been advanced fifty years by the A. R. U. strike. The spirit of the A. R. U. is abroad in the land. You can burn a man but his ashes will still protest. Mr. Debs' address closed with earnest, eloquent, impressive words in behalf of the cause of organized labor champions. At the close, an informal reception was held on the stage and men and women almost fought for a chance to grasp his hand. One old lady said, "I've got five A. R. U. boys, Mr. Debs."

"I take off my hat to you, madam," was his answer. "I have been thinking of you ever since I saw you in the city of Chicago. When he became ill, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria."

The New Diphtheria Cure.

To The Editor of The Herald:
The Herald of Jan. 3 contains an editorial paragraph advocating the establishment all over the country of stations for the preparing of anti-diphtheria serum. It is but natural that the general public should be anxious to obtain the new remedy which promises much. I wish to caution your readers against putting hopes and expectations too high. Personally, I am convinced that the future of medicine lies in the direction indicated by the labors of Koch, Behring and Ehrlich, and I have no knowledge of the new treatment except such as derived from reading. But the results are as yet problematical, the method still on trial, and after the first wave of enthusiasm, opposition is showing itself. At a meeting of the Medical Society at Milwaukee a report of a committee composed of the most eminent men was discussed and the conclusion reached that the use was not yet ripe for a definite judgment as to the value of the method. A note of warning was sounded by a physician in Berlin, an assistant to Professor Koch, that the world has no higher medical authority. Failures and disappointments are being reported not only in Germany but also in France while England has as yet withheld judgment.

So do not raise your hopes too high. The least disappointment follow and undervalued condemnations, as in the case of Koch's tuberculin. For us in America the additional difficulty exists of obtaining a reliable material. The scientific men of the New York board of health report that no trustworthy anti-toxin is as yet manufactured in this country, that disinfectant preparations prepared in America have been subjected to the necessary tests and found wholly insufficient and inert.

Martin Fink Seeks to Recover Damages from the Omaha Road and Superior Short Line.

Claims They Tore Down His House and Carried Away All the Furniture Contained Therein.

As a Result Mrs. Fink Was Made Ill and He Estimates the Damage at $8000.

Martin Fink in a complaint filed in the office of the district clerk Saturday afternoon charges the Omaha road, the Superior Short Line railroad, J. H. Poter and D. C. Ryan with a peculiar condemnation proceeding, and he asks $8000 damages. He asserts that on Sept. 11 he was the head and support of a family of five living in a house on block 1 of Munge's division, and that prior to that date defendants consulted, advised together, agreed and determined to forcibly, unlawfully and wrongfully and against his will and consent to enter upon said premises.

He alleges that the defendants made forcible entry into his house, threatening him and his family with bodily injury in case of resistance, and tore the house and its contents to pieces and carried the fragments away, converting household goods and furniture to their own use. As a result Mrs. Fink was made ill and was taken to a hospital, and the little Finks were given to the care of strangers at Mrs. Fink's expense. He wants damages for all this in the sum of $8000. John Jensen, Jr., is his attorney.

The stay in the Huletts case will be up in about a week. A proposed case has been served upon Mrs. Huletts' attorney by the respondent's attorney, and the case will come up for settlement about the middle of the month. After a settled case is made a motion for a new trial will probably be made by the respondents.

In the assignment of the Iron Range Brewing company several of the creditors are not satisfied with the assignee's final report and they have filed notice of a motion for an order requiring the report to be made more specific.

In the case of Keith Bros. & Co. against Jettsey Levy Judge Ensign has filed an order sustaining a demurrer to the counterclaim and rendering judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

An amended complaint has been filed in the case of Robert and Annie Crowley, two aged residents of Nova Scotia who claim to have been defrauded out of St. Louis county lands by impositions upon their ignorance, against the C. N. Nelson Lumber company et al.

AN IMPORTANT LAND SUIT.

Will Reach the Federal Supreme Court Tomorrow on an Appeal.

A law suit of magnitude and importance both to Superior and several towns of Douglas county, affecting the title to lands valued at one time at $100,000, will come up tomorrow before the United States supreme court. The litigation is entitled the Land and River Improvement company vs. Thomas Bardon, and upon the decision will rest the title to the land described as the sec. 1 of section 28-49-14, being a tract cornering on Fairmount park, lying one-half mile south of Twenty-eighth street and one-half mile west of the Northern Pacific railway.

The Land and River Improvement company claims title to the tract through two tax deeds, one issued in 1870 and another in 1882 to Col. Hiram Hayes. Mr. Bardon claims title through the original owner and alleges that the tax deeds are void. Another suit of the same nature is pending against M. C. Harney, who also claims the land.

The land company brought suit against Messrs. Bardon and Harney to set aside their land contracts. The Bardon suit was tried during 1892 before Judge Dunn sitting in the United States circuit court. Mr. Bardon was awarded and appealed. It is his case which will come up tomorrow.

Both Mr. Bardon and Mr. Harney claim the land from the original owner, the former having a quit claim deed and the latter a land contract. The "original owner" in question was James D. Ray, of Duluth. In 1854 he contracted to convey to it to Gustin and Benjamin Chester. The Chesters assigned to Mr. Harney's wife, from whom he gets his title.

After Mr. Ray had given the contract to the above personage, he quit claimed it to Gustin and Benjamin Chester. The Chesters assigned to Mr. Harney's wife, from whom he gets his title.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Yon Yonson."

"Yon Yonson," the clever Swedish comedy which is to be given at the Lyceum theater tonight, is a creation, not an imitation. In it Gus Heege has gained a reputation which entitles him to a place among the first character comedians of this country. He presents in unadorned Americanized Swedish a character that is at once entirely new and stage and as interesting as it is novel. Mr. Heege does not split the hairs of the stage and the audience. He is not in the typical ditty or lullaby line. His performance belongs to the class of legitimate comedy.

No less an authority than William Winter, the able and venerable critic of the New York Tribune, and the dean of his guild in the metropolis, said of Gus Heege's performance of "Yon Yonson": "He possesses the two fine qualities of repose and grace; his theory of comedy is right and his practice of it is adroit. He preserves absolute gravity of manner, and at the same time pursues a line of comic conduct. The Swedish dialect is novel."

"Charley's Aunt." There has never been a farce comedy in which so much love was properly and cleverly handled as in "Charley's Aunt." While you are witnessing the performance of this extraordinary farce comedy you will do nothing but laugh; indeed your sides will be pretty well shaken before you get through, but after you get home and have time to think, you will wonder at the plots and lots of love there is in the play. Everybody is in love. Altogether there are five complete love stories told in it, and about forty lessons given in the art of courtship. The loves of three young men dominate the story now and the sardonic element is filtered through and through with the jolliest kind of fun. But Cupid letters are not roses in "Charley's Aunt." The puffed cheeks of boys wings is bound with roars of laughter and there never was a cheerier or more delighted capture. "Charley's

E. L. Hodgson was appointed electrical superintendent in charge of the wiring of the new school buildings. J. B. An Important Event in Mercantile Circles—Limitation of Partnership of the Firm of M. S. Burrows & Co.

Among the many articles that have been affected under the new tariff law which went into effect the first of the new year nothing has been more seriously affected than the value of manufactured wools. This recent upheaval of values has created many radical changes throughout the country. In Duluth we find M. S. Burrows & Co. are compelled to sustain a serious loss. The partnership of M. S. Burrows & Co. expires by limitation March 23 next, and the firm finds itself overloaded with a tremendously large stock which did not sell as rapidly as expected, owing to a warm unseasonable December and with the new tariff schedule in effect the partners are unable to agree on the cash valuation of the stock, and have decided to take a heavy loss and sell it out before the expiration of the partnership, that the final settlement may be made on a cash basis.

The stock of men's suits, overcoats, ulsters, trousers and furnishing-boys' and children's clothing, carried by this firm has always been of the highest standard. The fact that this tremendous amount of merchandise must be sold in so short a time, and to convert it into cash seems the vital object, it is evident as the firm says in its ad on the last page of this issue, that cost and profits are out of the question in their efforts to effect the desired result. Sale commences tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

NEW DULUTH'S TREASURY.

Statement of the Village's Finances Presented by the Treasurer.

The city treasurer of New Duluth left this morning a statement of the condition of the finances of the extinct village as follows: Balance on hand in general fund, $4,811; balance on hand in bond fund, $105,001; balance on hand in street improvement fund, $20,040. Of this, $188,202 has been garnished by the B. B. Richards Lumber company.

VERY NOTABLE TRIAL.

Winifred B. Smith Was Arraigned at Indianapolis Today for the Murder of Weston B. Thomas.

Smith Is of Good Family and Was Long Known as a Fast Young Man.

His Victim Was a Young Married Man and They Quarreled About a Disreputable Woman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 7.—Winifred B. Smith was arraigned in the criminal court this morning for the murder of Weston B. Thomas. The regular jury was brought in and the special venire of forty men called. The case will probably not go to the jury until some time next week. This case is one of the most notable in the criminal calendar in Indianapolis for many years. Smith is 25 years of age, of good family and is a stepson of Dr. Wanda, one of the leading citizens of the state.

Smith, although surrounded by the best of influences, had a tendency to go wild and has been for some time known about town as a fast young man. Since arriving at the age of 21 he has spent a good sized fortune left by his father.

Smith killed Weston B. Thomas on Thursday morning, July 12, at a resort near this city. Thomas was secretary and treasurer of the American Wire Nail works of Anderson, and was about 28 years of age and worth $100,000. Thomas had been married about a year and his honeymoon had been spent in Europe. Both men were in liquor at the time of the murder, and the quarrel which brought it on was about a woman whom young Smith had taken to the resort in a buggy.

EDITOR TOM WINDER'S WAGER.

He Believes He Can Wheel Around the United States in Three Hundred Days.

Experts in almost every known sport have developed a craze for establishing records of all sorts in their various lines. Bicyclists have the craze worse than most of the others. The latest sensational effort is that of Tom Winder of Warsaw, Ind., who will undertake a bicycle trip around the United States "to decide a bet and establish a record." He is to make the trip in 300 consecutive days, traveling via circuitous roads a distance estimated at 21,000 miles and is to register at 76 chosen points on his route. Should he accomplish the trip successfully, and he seems to have great confidence in his ability to do so, he will have to travel at an average rate of 72 miles per day. His route will take him through 38 states and territories, and he will visit 2,084 cities, towns and villages, including the registering places. Winder has been editor of the Warsaw Wasp for the past ten years. He has traveled extensively and is a good wheelman, having done considerable rough country riding in mountainous districts. He is a man of slender build, weighing but 120 pounds. He is 32 years of age, is married and has four children.

The terms of the wager require him to earn his traveling expenses on route. Time will be allowed him in case of illness and for accidents to his machine which require parts to be forwarded from the factory. His outfit will consist of a corduroy suit of clothes, a camera, a sun umbrella and about 50 pounds of baggage. He expects to start from New Orleans on Feb. 4 next, going westward, so that the entire trip can be made during warm weather and enabling him to traverse the great northwestern plains during the early summer, which is the most favorable time. The registering and checking will be in charge of the League of American Wheelmen.

New to Him.

Miss Scribble—The heroine of my next story is to be one of those modern, advanced girls, who has ideas of her own and doesn't want to get married. The Colonel (politely)—Ah, indeed! I don't think I ever met that type.—LIFE.

A Suggestion For 1895!

Merchants and others who have proved to their own satisfaction the value of The Evening Herald as a medium through which to reach the buying classes will do well to consider whether in laying out their advertising appropriations for the coming year it will not be profitable to devote a larger share than ever to the cultivation of a field which is capable of yielding such bountiful returns.

TOOK OFFICE TODAY.

New County Officers Stepped Into the Official Positions to Which They Were Elected Last Fall.

Changes Were Quietly Made and an Unusual Amount of Cigar Smoke Was the Only Indication.

Amos Shephard, the Retiring Register, Was Presented With a Fine Watch Charm by His Employees.

The new county administration took hold of the reins this morning without any flourish of trumpets. Any outward demonstrations there might have been were veiled in a cloud of fragrant cigar smoke from good weeds dispensed by several of the highly successful candidates for the people's suffrages. The new chiefs of the various departments took the predecessors' chairs quietly, and Judge Ayers succeeded himself gracefully.

On the desk of Odlin Halden, the new county auditor, smilingly reposed a beautiful bunch of flowers from some tasteful donor whose identity was not divulged. Mr. Halden has had a long experience both in his own business and as G. N. LaVaque's efficient deputy that will fit him for the office entered this morning, which he will undoubtedly fill to the satisfaction of all.

The treasurer's office was closed for a time this morning while the new staff was checking up. Mr. Whipple has also had ample business experience and is possessed of abilities which will carry him through his term satisfactorily.

W. W. Butchart is broad shouldered and strong enough, literally and metaphorically, to bear the duties of the shrievalty with credit to himself and the county, and he will undoubtedly make a good successor to the thoroughly capable Paul Sharpy.

John Owens and J. W. West, his chief deputy, are fully capable of filling these positions, as is P. J. Borgstrom, an Irish work will be satisfactory beyond a doubt. All of the other officers are men whose personal qualities would have elected them even if the flood of Republican prosperity had not washed them high and dry into their positions.

Of the new commissioners, J. C. Helm has already participated in one meeting of the board, but Messrs. Morcom and Dinham will do their first executive work tomorrow afternoon, when the new board will meet and organize.

Amos Shephard, late register of deeds, who turned over his office only to move himself and his typewriter across the hall to Sheriff Butchart's office, received a pleasant surprise Saturday night. While the force was working late, preparing to turn over the books to the incoming Borgstrom, Mrs. Nellie Frizzell asked Mr. Shephard to step into the copying room. Supposing there was a mistake in the books he followed her.

On entering the room he found the employees all gathered and before he could recover from his astonishment he was presented with a handsome gold thirty-second degree Masonic charm, a silver fruit dish and a box of cigars, accompanied by graceful turned speeches of regret by Mrs. Frizzell and B. O. Loe.

The Police Court.

In police court this morning Joseph Pryor pleaded guilty to stealing Myers Brothers' sign, valued at $15. He said that he did not think it was worth anything and was willing to let the owners have it back. Fifteen days in the county jail was his fate. James Calder went out ten days for drunkenness and John Benk, a vagrant, went along for five days.

Mr. Tear has filed the office of county auditor for four years and with complete satisfaction to the attorneys, to all having business in his office and to the people in general. He leaves an excellent record as a capable, courteous and faithful official and St. Louis county will never have a more conscientious and energetic county auditor.

Her Suicide Successful.

HIS SHOT WAS EFFECTIVE.
Bob Benson's Shooting Iron Killed the Horse in an Instant.

This morning the team on Dan Blanchard's coal wagon ran away, and when opposite Prosser's feed store on Michigan street, ran into the team of A. J. Anderson that stood on the scales. One of Anderson's horses had a shoulder crushed and a wound deep enough in its side to permit a man to introduce his arm. The animal had to be killed.

The big gray horse of Blanchard, a fine animal, ran onto Anderson's wagon and received a similar wound in about the same place. The police came out and seeing that the horse was about done for, Capt. Thompson pulled out his revolver and fired at the animal. His shot struck, but instead of killing, it simply had the effect of causing the animal to climb to its feet. It looked reproachfully at the captain for his poor marksmanship, and as he looked ashamed the animal started for him and he retreated.

"Kill the horse!" yelled one of the large crowd that gathered. "I can get an ax and kill it quicker than that."

"Well, get your ax," then spoke up Bob Benson. "Taking second thought, he drove the insolent fellows back and striding bravely forward said in heroic accents:

"I'll kill him!" He then pulled out his famous gun and without faltering, advanced, leveled his weapon, took aim and fired.

The poor wounded beast fell dead in his gore and the overawed populace dispersed, marvelling much at Detective Bob's bravery and skill with his "shooting iron."

Chief Black of the fire department, is around again after ten days' illness with a combination and complication of disorders.

He has just remembered the fire alarm stations and has employed a system that will make mistakes in reading alarms less likely and less serious when they do occur.

Each box will at once, too, be brought in, cleaned, oiled and given a uniform speed. That is something that never has been done and will greatly reduce the possibility of mistakes when reading an alarm.

J. MacLeod, Harry Hurdon and Ron Smith will probably go.

STATE SOLONS

The Legislature of Minnesota Opened Its Biennial Session Today and Both Houses Were Organized.

Capt. Van Sant Elected Speaker of the House Unanimously and Republican Caucus Nominees Were Chosen.

Banker M. O. Hall, of Duluth, Makes Bets of $2600 Against Washburn with James Doran.

The Senatorial Contest Was Quiet Today. All Interest Being Centered in the Legislature's Opening.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—Secretary of State Albert Berg called the house to order promptly at noon and appointed Henry Feig, of Kandiyohi, secretary, and Representatives Jones and Gutterus as assistants. The secretary called the desk and the members came to the desk and signed the oath after which they were sworn in by Associate Justice Collins, of the supreme court. According to the statutes the members were called by districts, and, coming to the desk, handed in their certificates of election, signed the roll and were sworn in.

The roll call showed every member present, and Daniel Shell nominated S. R. Van Sant for speaker, the nomination being seconded by Mr. Lockwood and J. J. Furlong (Dem.), and on roll call there were 111 votes for Capt. Van Sant and he was declared elected. The eighteen Democratic and Populist members voted with the Republicans for Capt. Van Sant and he was elected without a single opposing vote.

John L. Gibbs, A. J. Anderson and Daniel Shell were appointed to escort the speaker to his chair. Speaker Van Sant returned thanks for the honor of unanimous election, saying he would try to be businesslike, as he did not hope to be brilliant.

"Industry and economy" was the motto he suggested for the session. The Republican caucus nominees for the remaining officers were then elected.

On motion of Mr. Gibbs a committee consisting of John L. Gibbs, G. D. Post and P. H. Kelly were appointed to notify Governor Nelson that the house was now ready for business and could receive any communication he might wish to make, such committee acting in connection with a like committee from the senate.

By resolution the clerk was directed to notify the senate that the house had been fully organized and was ready for business. With the exception of the rule referring to clerical matters, the rules of the last house were adopted to govern the present body until new rules shall have been adopted, and a formal resolution for the appointment of a committee on rules and joint rules was adopted.

Chairman Gibbs, from the committee to notify the governor, at this point reported that the governor had said he would meet with the legislature in joint session tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, at which time his message would be read to them.

It being 1:30 o'clock a recess was taken until 3 o'clock, at which hour the selection of seats will take place. The usual method of procedure was adopted, former members and members over 50 years of age being allowed to select their own seats and the others then drawing their seats by lot, the various districts being allowed to draw together.

In the senate, Lieutenant Governor Clough presided and after naming Senator Day for secretary pro tem the senators were called to the desk and sworn in by the lieutenant governor.

The caucus nominees for the senate officers were then selected. When it came to the minor positions, doorkeepers, toilet room keepers, etc. Senator Vale started a motion for economy by moving that $3 per day be the compensation in each case, and it was so decided as each officer was chosen. The usual committee to notify the governor was chosen and some other unimportant routine transacted.

IMPORTANT COURT DECISIONS.

Decisions Handed Down Today in Seven Cases.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—Decisions were filed in the supreme court this morning as follows: State of Minnesota, plaintiff, vs. Marion F. Higgins, defendant. Syllabus: The rule that the middle name or initial is not a material part of a person's name, does not apply when the first name is not given, but only its initial. The second initial "F" in the name "M. F. Higgins" is a material part of the name, where a contract is made and signed by "M. F. Higgins." Held, forgery may be committed by changing with intent to defraud, the second initial "F" to the letter "J" in the name in the contract, and in the signature to the contract, so that it reads "M. J. Higgins." Order affirmed.

Margaret Mitchell, respondent, vs. William B. Mitchell et al, appellants. Syllabus: Held, the verdict in this action is excessive, and a new trial should be granted, unless plaintiff consent to remit all of the same in excess of $500.

Peter O. Halland, respondent, vs. Benjamin Bishop and Chas. E. Peterson, appellants. Order affirmed.

Miah T. Hulet, appellant, vs. Hannah Hamilton, respondent. Order affirmed.

Harris Rosenberg et al, appellants, vs. Moses Burnstein et al, respondents. Order reversed.

BETTING ON SENATORSHIP.

M. O. Hall, of Duluth, Makes Bets of $2600 With Jim Doran.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—The Pioneer Press this morning prints the following: The only feature in the senatorial contest yesterday was two bets aggregating $2600. During the afternoon Frank Mead and M. O. Hall, of Duluth, engaged in discussion over the outcome of the senatorial contest. Mead is a Washburn man and was sure he would be elected to the tune of $100. Hall thought not and put up a certified check for $200 in Col. Montfort's hands.

The money was not covered until after 6 o'clock last evening, when James Doran, Michael's son, came to the front with a check for $100 which Col. Montfort accepted as cash. There was bandying over a further bet, and in a trice a second bet for $500 was arranged between the two. Doran stakes that amount on the election of Washburn, and Hall a like sum that he will not be his own successor in the United States senate. The two gentlemen will meet at the Windsor at 10:30 this morning to put up the cash. Checks don't go, so it was agreed.

This may be a pointer on the Democratic vote, for Doran is too thrifty a citizen to allow $500 to slip out of his clutches without making the strongest sort of a play to hold it and the other fellows as well.

NEW INSURANCE CODE.

It Will Include All Companies Doing Business in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—The state insurance department is at present working on a new insurance code, which will include the insurance laws in force and several much needed amendments, the idea being to amend the law that it will govern all the insurance companies doing business in the state.

The code is copied closely after the Massachusetts law. The present laws do not cover mutual insurance companies and it is the intention to have the new law provide for the organization of all classes of companies, some of which have not a check placed upon them.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

The Opening of the Legislature Deprived it of Interest.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—Today has been a quiet one in the senatorial contest, all interest centering in the organization of the two houses.

Senator Washburn and Mr. Comstock were on the floor bright and early this morning talking with the members and looking after their interests in person. From now until it is decided, the senatorial contest will be the leading subject of discussion on all sides.

A Sudden Death.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Edward Snow, wife of a well known citizen, was suffering from sick headache Sunday night. She told her husband to get some water. While he was doing this she arose from bed, staggered toward him, and crying "Oh, Ed," fell dead from the bursting of a blood vessel.

Col. Merriam Ill.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 8.—Col. John L. Merriam is reported to be very ill present, his failing health having reached a point where it arouses fears for the invalid's safety.

AGAINST THE PLANTERS.

Decision in the Sugar Bounty Test Case Sustained.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The district court of appeals today affirmed the decision of the district supreme court refusing to grant the Miles Sugar Manufacturing and Planting company, of Louisiana, a mandamus compelling Secretary Carlisle and Internal Revenue Commissioner Miller to proceed under the law awarding sugar bounties, notwithstanding its repeal by the new tariff law.

The case was brought as a test suit. An appeal to the United States supreme court is yet open to the planters, the case having gone against them in all inferior tribunals.

STOPPED BY BRAVE WOMEN.

The Jailor's Wife and Daughter Prevented a Jail Delivery.

TRINIDAD, Col., Jan. 8.—There would have been a wholesale jail delivery in this city last night but for the bravery and presence of mind of the jailor's wife and daughter. A burglar named King and another prisoner hid in one corner of the corridor. As Jailor Radford was fastening the padlock of one of the cell doors the inmates suddenly rushed out and grabbed the jailor by the hair.

King and his companion rushed around and got the jailor's key, intending to liberate the other prisoners. Radford's cries brought his wife and daughter who held King's companion until help came. King escaped.

THE POOLING BILL.

The Senate Committee to Report It Without Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The senate committee on interstate commerce had the house pooling bill under consideration today and postponed final committee action until next Tuesday when the committee will meet again.

The expression today was generally favorable to the bill, and the belief was expressed after adjournment that the bill would be reported practically without amendment at the next meeting.

An amendment suggested by Chairman Morrison of the interstate commerce commission was discussed at some length, but the opinion seemed to prevail that if the bill should be amended in any way at so late a day it would fail because of antagonism in the senate.

It was resolved, however, to invite Col. Morrison to be present at the next meeting to explain his amendment.

EXCITING SCENE.

A Pennsylvania Democrat Caused a Sensation in Congress by an Attack on the Administration.

Mr. Sibley Said Members Were Told Opposing the Currency Bill Would Displease the King.

Members Were Offered Federal Offices to Vote for Bill to Repeal the Sherman Law.

Time When There Should be More Than Brains, Belly and Brags to This Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The first business called up in the house today was a resolution from the committee on rule authorizing the appropriating committee to insert a clause in the sundry civil appropriation bill authorizing the transfer of the military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., from the jurisdiction of the war department to the department of justice. Opposition was made by Mr. Broderick, of Kansas, who asserted that the question had been before the military committee and contended that the house was entitled to the report on the proposed change for which he saw no reason.

The plan was explained by Mr. Curtis, of New York, who contended that soldiers sent to the prison for minor offenses were subject to evil associations. The resolution, after some debate was adopted, 156 to 102.

The debate on the currency bill being resumed, Mr. Belthover (Dem.) Pennsylvania, gave notice of an amendment. It proposes a section to enable the secretary of the treasury to fund the treasury notes which may remain in circulation after Aug. 1, 1895, which were issued under the act of Feb. 25, 1865; July 11, 1865; March 3, 1869; and July 15, 1890, by issuing bonds to an amount not exceeding $500,000,000, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after five years, payable twenty-five years from date, with interest at 3 per cent, payable semi-annually in gold.

The bonds are to be of such denominations, not less than $10, as the secretary may determine upon, and to be sold at not less than par, for gold or for treasury notes.

Members gathered about Mr. Sibley (Dem.), Pennsylvania, when he began an address against the bill. He was applauded when he said: "If a man is asked to be a member of the government, he is asked to be a man of the people, it is needed for him who has attempted to trample down the government to himself. The time has come when there should be something more than brains, belly and brags to this government."

He referred to George III and said it had been given out that any one who voted against this bill would incur the displeasure of the king. Four days after the repeal of the Sherman act, members had told him that they had been promised revenue collectorships if they would vote for repeal.

"The gentleman makes a very broad assertion," interrupted Mr. Coombs (Dem.), New York, asking Mr. Sibley to mention their names.

"I went three days ago to a member and asked him to allow me the privilege of calling him up here," replied Mr. Sibley. "He said, 'Mr. Sibley, you will place me in a bad position with my constituents,' but," continued Mr. Sibley, "within ten feet of me sits a man who heard him make the statement and who had been offered federal offices for his vote."

"But do you consider it fair," asked Mr. Coombs, with a perceptible tremor in his voice, "to make so grave a charge against the administration and not give names and places in order to permit a defense?"

"Every man is the guardian of his own conscience," declared Mr. Sibley. "I heard him make the statement and my lips ready to padlock have been on my lips." "When were the padlocks put on your lips?" interrogated Mr. Outwaite (Dem.), Ohio.

"There was great confusion and excitement following the question. 'I have not thrown it off before,' continued Mr. Sibley, 'because I hoped to see the administration redeem its promises and I did not want to utter a rebuke when there was hope of honest performance.'"

Mr. Outwaite had pushed forward and again uttered his question: "Who put the padlock on your lips?" Mr. Sibley hesitated for a moment, and then with increased earnestness said: "Let me tell the gentleman that I am talking today to men who believe in going to hell in a handcart instead of heaven supported by truth. Let me tell him also that I am not addressing men who believe more in a botchful flush than a contrite heart."

A shout of applause and laughter greeted the statement. Mr. Sibley proceeded to relate the experience of Dyonicus when he was again asked by Mr. Outwaite, "Was it Dyonicus who put the padlock on your lips?" Mr. Sibley made no reply, and proceeded to address himself to the details of the pending bill.

FREIMUTH'S FREIMUTH'S

after the election of 1892, Mr. Sibley continued, "he hid himself away for recreation. Where on earth did he go? The classic shores of Hog Island. The Bible says that when they are set at liberty, each man will go to his own place. Where did he go? To Buzzard's Bay. And ever since the old ship of state has been bumping her nose into Hog Island and foundering in the waters of Buzzard's Bay, with prosperity but a cable length away."

There was a panic being precipitated by the values of the banks, Mr. Sibley shouted, besides which the last panic was as a gentle zephyr to a shrieking cyclone.

Barbarity by Japanese.

The Massacre at Port Arthur Was of a Shocking Character.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The Times today in a leading article on the Port Arthur massacre says: "Not only on the day of the battle and in the heat of victory, but for four days after, the Japanese soldiers gave themselves over, apparently without check from their commanders, to indiscriminate massacre, carried out with every revolting circumstance of primal barbarity."

"Troops of prisoners together were riddled with bullets and then hacked to pieces. Boats crowded with fugitives of both sexes and all ages received volley after volley. The streets were encumbered with corpses, showing every ghastly form of mutilation which Oriental cruelty has invented."

"What, perhaps, is the strangest thing of all, showing the total, even if temporary, disappearance of European veneer, is the absolute unconsciousness shown by the Japanese officers of the effect of these brutalities upon Western visitors. At Port Arthur, after real fighting and real provocation, the artificialities of Hiroshima disappeared like snow in the sun."

"It recalls the fable of the cat changed into a beautiful woman and who played the part to perfection until, in the midst of a banquet, a mouse was allowed to run across the table. This appeal to fundamental instincts proved too much for laboriously acquired habits. The woman disappeared and the cat stood revealed."

"The Fall Mail Gazette this afternoon, referring to the massacre at Port Arthur, says: 'The responsibility for the horror rests not with the Japanese peasant, whom everybody knows is a lacquered barbarian, but with Marshal Oyama and his officers whose civilization professed to go a little deeper. Whether they permitted the outrages or not, or were unable to check them, they are unworthy to command the armies of a power which calls itself civilized.'"

River Rising at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 8.—After standing for twelve hours at twenty-three feet the river at noon began rising. It will continue for a day or two and may reach forty feet here by Thursday. News is received of the loss of a lot of logs in the Little Kanawha river, also in the Tygart river 100,000 railroad ties were washed away, making a loss of $30,000.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

Political Matters Are Warming Up and New Candidates Are Springing Forth Every Day.

Charles W. Hoyt Seems to be Making the Most Aggressive Fight for the Judgeship.

Large List of Candidates for Alderman From the Eighth—Alderman French Has Little Opposition.

The interest in politics grows as the election comes on and it is now at least ascertained that there is no dearth of candidates for the several offices. The following are the names mentioned for municipal judge: C. W. Hoyt, L. R. Weld, D. M. DeVore, Judge Himebaugh and Van R. Brown. Judge Himebaugh is the only one of the number, C. W. Hoyt appears to be so far making the most aggressive fight.

For alderman in the eighth ward there is a large field to choose from and new candidates are springing up at the rate of about one a day. The latest name mentioned is that of J. H. Moore. Among those in the field are Thomas Olafson, E. J. Luther, A. Miles, Anthony Johnson, Dr. Rockwell, A. Bagley. It is rumored that the Democrats and Populists will attempt to fuse on a candidate and J. M. Martin is mentioned in this connection. There are none of the candidates so far spoken of that have developed much strength and the opinion seems to prevail generally that Thomas Olafson will easily succeed himself.

L. A. Barnes has drawn out of the race in the seventh and it looks now as though Alderman French would be able to finish at his own goal.

HE SPUTTERS AGAIN.
"Old Kicker" Comes Out of His Hole Long Enough to Kick Again.

"Old Kicker" was found at the city hall again this morning not in a very amiable mood, and he had another grievance to pour into the ears of the first newspaper man that put in appearance.

"What have we done," said he, "that the West Duluth fire hall should be used as a kindergarten for the city department. As soon as a fireman comes proficient here he is exchanged for a green hand at some of the other fire halls. Only last Wednesday Stanley Roche, one of the oldest firemen in the West Duluth department and a resident here, was transferred to No. 1. Previous to that Fireman McLaughlin, Johnson and other experienced men were called to Duluth and their places filled by new men. Nearly all the firemen in the West Duluth department are new men and the fact would no doubt be apparent in case a large conflagration took place at the present time. The West Duluth department should really contain the most experienced men for it is so far distant from the other fire halls that it would take some time to get relief in a time of necessity, whereas the halls at Duluth are nearer together and contain more men."

"Please put this in the paper with my regards remarked Old Kicker, as he finished tossing his shoe, took down his old shoes from the top of the register, and ended his gouty feet therein."

A. J. Billarault has assumed the full management of Great Eastern hall, and hereafter all parties desirous of engaging the hall will please apply to him for its use.

Clyne's Proposition to Build a Water Works Plant Will Be Pushed.

It is said that the supporters of the Clyne proposition to construct a water works plant have not given up the scheme by any means. Yesterday afternoon several of the oldermen were approached in the matter and last night a couple of attorneys and municipal lobbyists were at the council meeting, keeping their eagle eyes on it.

It is claimed that those interested wish and hope to railroad through an acceptance of the proposition. It is not impossible or improbable that the matter will come up at the next council meeting. If so, those back of it undoubtedly will have to come from under cover.

THE COMPLETE SLATE

County Commissioners Met in Caucus Yesterday Afternoon and Indicated Their Choice for County Employees.

Commissioners Swenson, Dinham and Helm Had Made a List and They Voted It Through.

Commissioner Helm for Chairman, Dr. Braden for County Physician and A. P. Cook for Poor Superintendent.

There was a caucus of county commissioners yesterday afternoon to determine who should be selected to fill such positions as county employees as are in the gift of the board. It was evident from the start to Commissioners Miller and Morcom that they were not in it and would have no voice in the selection for Commissioners Swenson, Dinham and Helm had already determined who should have the places and the vote on every office stood 3 to 2.

The first office voted upon was overseer of the poor. John Hokenson was selected.

For county physician Dr. Alex Braden was the man upon whom fortune smiled. He is especially lucky for he has been a resident of Duluth for only about a year. He is located at 1030 West Superior street. Dr. Pearson of West Duluth was the choice for assistant.

The office of janitor has for some years been filled by C. W. Dorsey, the popular colored Republican. Higher honors were provided for him this year and he has a desk in the register of deeds office. This left the office of janitor to be filled. A man named Swan, who lives on Rice's Point is the lucky individual whom Messrs. Swenson, Dinham and Helm decided shall sweep the floors of St. Louis county's palatial court office and keep the office furniture free from dust.

Commissioner Helm seemed in a job for his uncle, A. P. Swanson, who is to guard the county's sacred promises in the still, quiet hours of the night. William Haycraft is the fortunate man to be chosen engineer.

Capt. J. W. Miller, present superintendent of poor will give way to A. P. Cook, whose energetic and persistent services in behalf of the Republican party are thereby to be rewarded.

Somewhat strange to say, also, a new precedent is to be established in the organization of the board. It has always been customary to select as chairman one of the commissioners who has held over. It is an office requiring some experience—or at least is supposed to—in the conduct of county affairs. The mantle would naturally fall on Commissioner Miller but it is not to be so. J. C. Helm who succeeded Commissioner Butchart is to fill the position.

At this afternoon's meeting the slate given above was carried out. A. Rockwell was retained as superintendent of the poor farm, and J. A. Gray was re-elected assistant to the superintendent of the poor.

STENOGRAPHER'S CLUB.

One Organized Last Evening for Social, Not Business Purposes.

The stenographers of the city have organized themselves into a body, not for the purpose of protecting themselves against the grinding heel of monopoly, but for social purposes. After several preliminary efforts an organization was perfected at a meeting held last night, and the following officers were elected: President, Allan A. Brackeureed; first vice president, Miss Lydia Griener; second vice president, E. H. Bohner; recording secretary, Agnes M. Stebbins; financial secretary, Louise K. Meining; treasurer, A. E. Watts.

The club organizes with about forty-five members. Parties will be given at which dancing and musical and literary programs will be the most prominent features.

Will Meet Saturday Evening.

Chairman L. M. W. W. of the Republican city committee has called a meeting for Saturday evening at his office at 14 Third avenue west to select a date for the city convention.

that enter and those which accumulate within the body will be vigorously opposed and expelled if the liver be active. To keep the liver active take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Health depends greatly upon regularity of habits.

WILLIAM RAMICH, of Minn., Kearney Co., Neb., writes:

"I was troubled with bilious for thirty years. Four years ago I was so afflicted with them that I could not eat. I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and took one 'Pellet' after each meal. The biliousness disappeared and I have had none since. I have also been troubled with indigestion, and took one 'Pellet' after each meal. When I feel the headache coming on, I take one or two 'Pellets,' and am relieved of it."

Limitation Partnership Sale!

This Store
Is Watched!

By everybody; by customers for what it sells; by merchants for what it undersells. Common consent makes it the standard for this community. We accept the distinction and are glad to be of service to anybody besides our customers.

Bonfires On a Thousand Hills!

Couldn't have carried the news so effectively. Our low prices have had an electric effect. The incredulous at first wondered could it be so. Really, can you buy Men's Good Overcoats, Suits, Boys' and Children's Clothing, thick, warm, comfortable, with that up-to-date style, so cheap? Not Surprised At Your Doubts!

Never has there been a sale touching what we have on hand this present time. It's the unusual conditions—the settling of partners' interests in a Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Stock. Of a necessity, it must be extraordinary. No extra push would carry off the great stock. The only way we knew was to make the prices so low that buyers could not turn away from them.

-MEN'S SUITS-

The result is that you're buying suits for

$16.50 that you formerly paid	$39.00	$8.00 that you formerly paid	$15.00

Needn't ask about the goodness of the Clothing. Tens of hundreds who are now wearing the clothes bought here, will be only too glad to tell of its wear-resisting and lasting qualities.

One Thing We Want
To Particularly Impress
Upon Your Mind,

Is that we have a stock of Clothing bigger than all the other stocks in the city put together, bright, new goods, and when we get you in the store we're able to fit you from the thousands of styles we show, and not compelled to send you away disappointed, after taking up several hours of your valuable time.

Just remember this fact and come with the crowd.

FLOUR
made of wheat is the principal ingredient of bread used by all civilized people. Add to this a little YEAST
in order to make it light and more easily digested, and a small sprinkling of SALT
will make it more palatable, and then mix well with WATER
and after it is baked you have bread. But there is difference in bread, which depends largely on the brand of flour you use. Bread made of PRIMUS is the best in the world. All consumers will attest to this. Try it.
